

CONGRESS ADJOURNED

JUDGE HADLEY OBJECTS TO "WHISTLER PARKWAY"

Would Call the Dummer Street
Extension "Francis Parkway" in Honor of James Francis

Hon. Samuel P. Hadley, former judge of the local police court, appeared before the municipal council at a special meeting held this morning and objected strenuously to the proposed name, "Whistler Parkway," for the Dummer street extension, and recommended that the thoroughfare be named "Francis Parkway" as a memorial to the late James Francis, a hydraulic engineer of wide reputation, a man who once saved the city of Lowell from a disastrous flood and one under whose supervision most of the water wheels in the local mills were installed. In the course of his argument, Mr. Hadley compared the character of both men, and said Whistler denied he was born here and claimed St. Petersburg, Russia, as his birthplace.

The meeting was called for the purpose of drawing 16 jurors for the criminal session of the superior court, which will be held at Cambridge, beginning Monday, Sept. 18, and during which the Roper murder trial will continue to page four.

THE GRAND JURY LOWELL MAN TO
REPORTED TODAY WED DAUGHTER
IN THIS CITY OF MILLIONAIRE

The Middlesex county grand jury which held a session in the local court house Tuesday reported before Judge Stevens in the same place this forenoon. Indictments were returned in four cases and all the defendants were arraigned and asked to enter pleas.

Henry Beaudry was unable to understand the meaning of an indictment returned against him for a statutory offense and a plea of not guilty was entered until Monday, when an interpreter will be used. Alexina Sorvia, who was arrested with Beaudry, pleaded guilty.

Ernest B. Millett pleaded guilty to two indictments. One charged him with passing a forged check for $23.55 payable to E. P. Millette and bearing the signature of Davis & Sargent and the endorsement of Joseph Cayouette on August 5th last. The second indictment accused him of passing a forged check for $9.08 on Stephen Rochette.

A plea of not guilty was taken on the indictment charging Joseph Santos with assault upon Flora Gordin. George Parker pleaded guilty to breaking and entering on August 31 the store of Michael Donoghue with intent to commit larceny.

No sentences were imposed by Judge Stevens today. After the aforementioned indictments had been returned a recess was taken and the grand jury was ordered to report to East Cambridge to return the findings in the cases from that vicinity.

The September session of the criminal court will open in the local court house next Monday morning at 10 o'clock when both appealed and grand jury cases will be considered. Judge Stevens will preside.

An indictment was returned against Katherine Noias, charged with polygamy, but she was not arraigned.

The engagement of Miss Gertrude Oliver, daughter of J. D. Oliver, millionaire plow manufacturer of South Bend, Ind., to Charles Frederick Cunningham of Lowell, was announced yesterday afternoon at a bridge luncheon given by Miss Oliver at her home in that city. The wedding will take place Sept. 30 at the First Presbyterian church there.

Mr. Cunningham is at present with the United States Cartridge company as efficiency engineer, having succeeded Herbert Cobo who went back to his old position with the National Lead Co. in New York a short time ago.

RECORD BREAKING
SESSION CONCLUDED

64th Congress' First Session Which Began in December Adjourned Today—Appropriations of Two Billion
Authorized—The Legislation Passed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Congress adjourned sine die this morning at 10 o'clock, concluding a session, record breaking in many aspects, with appropriations and authorizations for the future running well toward two billion dollars.

In a statement issued following the adjournment of congress, President Wilson called attention to the "helpful and humane legislation" passed, and declared that while he regretted additional legislation dealing with the recent dispute between the railroads and their employees had not been completed, he had every reason to believe the question would be taken up immediately after congress reassembled.

Pres. Wilson's Statement:

The president's statement follows: "A very remarkable session of congress has just closed, full, as all recent sessions of the congress have been, of helpful and humane legislation which constitutes contributions of capital importance to the defense, the economic progress and the wholesome life of the country.

"It is to be regretted that the session could not have continued long enough to complete the program recently projected with regard to the accommodation of labor disputes between the railroads and the employees, but it was not feasible in the circumstances to continue the session any longer and therefore only the most immediately pressing parts of the program could be completed.

"The rest, it is agreed, has merely been postponed until it can be more maturely deliberated and perfected. It is the purpose of the leaders of the two houses immediately upon the re-assembling of congress to undertake this additional legislation.

"It is evident that the country should be relieved of the anxiety which must have been created by recent events with regard to the future accommodation of such disputes."

This was the final day of the 64th congress' first session which began last December.

Only a small proportion of the members were on hand to watch the session die. Most had hurried to their homes at the end of the late sessions last night, or even days before, and a month after the political campaign is finished in November they must return for the short session.

Danish Treaty Ratified

Last night both houses accepted the conference report on the emergency revenue bill without record votes and the senate, before recessing an hour after midnight, ratified the Danish

OFFICIALS SAY NEW

Strike Breakers Arrives

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—With subway and elevated trains being operated apparently on normal schedule, traction officials insisted today that New York's strike had been broken. Fifty per cent. of the "Green cars" of the New York Railway Co.'s surface system were running, the company announced.

Union leaders, on the other hand, claimed at noon that 3500 men were on strike on the subway and elevated roads of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. and 1000 men on the "Green car" system.

Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Interborough, announced that all of the men who have struck on the New York railways lines owned by the Interborough, could have their positions back, with their former places of security restored to them, if they resigned from the union by 1 p. m. tomorrow.

KING OF STRIKEBREAKERS

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Having frustrated the efforts of its striking employees to tie up the subway and elevated railways, the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. today turned its attention to its surface lines which have been crippled since the strike was declared Wednesday night. All cars on the so-called "Green" lines representing the greater part of the surface system in Manhattan and the Bronx were withdrawn at 8 o'clock last night after maintaining during the day a service barely 20 per cent. of normal.

Agrees to Crush Strike

When the surface cars were started out again at 6 o'clock this morning the service was in charge of J. T. Waddell, known as the king of strikebreakers. Waddell came here from Chicago last night, making the run by special train in 20 hours. He promised to crush the strike in 48 hours.

"I have 3500 strikebreakers here," said Waddell, "and 2700 of these are now working. They are more than enough to control the situation."

Subway and L. Trains Run

Subway and elevated trains ran last night and this morning as usual. Fearing that the strikers would be able to interrupt this service, thousands of persons yesterday patronized the multitude of jitney automobiles that mobilized at every important center, but today the traveling public returned to its accustomed routes by subway and "L."

Shots Fired at Trains

A number of elevated trains were attacked during the early morning, but in no case was there any approach to a mob riot. Strike sympathizers on the roofs of tenement houses, bombarded the trains with bottles and bricks and in one instance, with pistol shots. None of the bullets took effect, but several passengers were cut by missiles and broken glass.

GREAT BATTLE BEGINS IN SOUTHEASTERN RUMANIA

Russians Said to Have Taken Offensive Over Entire Dobrudja Front, Attacking Invading Bulgarians and Germans—French Resist Germans

The beginning of a great battle in southeastern Rumania is reported unofficially from Petrograd. The Russians are said to have taken the offensive over the entire Dobrudja front, attacking the invading Bulgarians and Germans from the Danube to the Black sea.

Bulgars Report Victories

An undated Bulgarian official report announces important victories for the invaders in this region. It is said the German and Bulgarian forces have captured the fortified town of Dobrich, or Bazarjik, 50 miles southeast of Bucharest, and three towns on the Rumanian Black sea coast near the Bulgarian frontier.

Important Move by Russians

The official Petrograd report of today indicates that the Russians may have embarked on an important enterprise on the northern end of their front. It was announced yesterday that Russians had crossed the Dvina north of Dvinsk and occupied part of a German position, but it appeared at that time that only a small force was involved, perhaps for reconnaissance purposes. The announcement of today, however, shows that these forces were of sufficient size to engage in sustained fighting with the Germans whose repeated attempts to dislodge them are said to have been unsuccessful.

Tentons in Retreat

On the front below Lemberg, in eastern Galicia, a further retreat by the Austro-German forces is reported by the Russian war office. They are said to have fallen back to the western bank of the Galitz Lipa, the last river before Lemberg to the south which is available for defensive purposes.

French Resist Attacks

German troops along the Somme front last night made repeated efforts to take back ground won by the French in their latest advance south of the river. The struggle through the night over the ground between Berny and Chaulnes was marked with unusual violence. Paris announces officially that the assaults of the Germans availed them nothing and that the French everywhere held their ground.

On the Verdun Front

On the Verdun front also the French troops were subjected to an unsuccessful counter attack with the object of reconquering German first line positions over a front of nearly a mile northeast of Verdun which the French took yesterday, the official French report says.

British Hold German Trenches

The British troops on the Somme front were comparatively inactive. Further north, near Courcelette the British raided German trenches, and an official announcement from London says, inflicted severe losses on the occupants of these positions.

Defeat of Rumanians

An official Bulgarian statement of Sept. 4, dealing with the earlier phases of the invasion of eastern Rumania, tells of the defeat of the Rumanians in two engagements and reports a successful Bulgarian advance along the Rumanian Black sea coast.

Heavy Fighting

On the Italian front in the Sugana valley, there was heavy fighting Wednesday night in consequence of an Austrian attack on the Italian positions at Civarone. The Italian war office announces that the attacks were defeated.

23 CASES OF INFANTILE
PARALYSIS REPORTED

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—Twenty-three cases of infantile paralysis were reported today to the state department of health, making a total of 39 this month. The new cases included seven in this city and four each in Springfield and Pittsfield.

FEWER CASES IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—A sharp decline in infantile paralysis cases was shown today in the figures announced by the health authorities. The total new cases were 18, or 13 fewer than yesterday, while the deaths were 13, also a drop of 13.

CONCORD SCHOOLS CLOSED

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 8.—The schools of this city, which opened on Tuesday, were today closed until Sept. 18. No cases of infantile paralysis have been reported here and the action taken is merely a precautionary measure. Parents are urged not to let their children leave the city.

SCHOOLS NOT TO OPEN

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 8.—Following a conference today between Mayor Harry W. Spaulding and Superintendent of Schools Herbert F. Taylor, it was announced that the public schools of Manchester, due to resume next Monday for the fall term, would remain closed two weeks more. Eight cases of infantile paralysis have been found in widely separated sections of this city. Four of them have resulted fatally thus far.

MAN ATTACKED
IN HOTEL BY VICIOUS CAT

There was something happened a diner in a local hotel a few days ago that he will remember till his dying day and other diners who witnessed it will not forget in a hurry. A cat was at the bottom of the trouble and mention of a more vicious feline is not made in history elsewhere.

The cat had little baby kittens in a place not far removed from the dining room and a few days previous a dog had gone so near her little home that she became almost frantic with rage. The dog was taken out, but the cat could not be reconciled and even the bark of a dog in the street made her wild.

Well, anyway, the man was eating at a table with four other men when a bone stuck in his throat. He stooped his head and coughed. The cat was not far away and the sound of the cough inflamed her. She sprang at the man just as he raised his head and landed squarely in his face, biting and scratching. The man grabbed her and threw her to the floor. She did not attempt a second attack, but scurried back to her kittens, feeling, perhaps, that she had done only a mother's duty in protecting her little ones.

The man's face was badly torn and it was stated that the cat bit him through the lip. It seems that hotels insure against almost all kinds of accidents and the company having such insurance on this particular hotel has settled with the unfortunate victim of the cat's rage.

HEAT PROSTRATION

An unknown man, about 35 years of age, was found in an unconscious condition on the South common shortly before noon today. The ambulance was summoned and the man was taken to St. John's hospital. It is thought that the man was overcome by the heat.

There are many people who buy goods who have "ideas." They have reasons that have promoted these ideas—some cause that leads them to request having things according to their own notion.

We consider that such buyers are not unreasonable in their demands. Their money pays the bills, so why shouldn't they have what they want? We like to consider our customers and sell them just what they want, in fact, to invariably please the particular persons—the ones whose goods must be "just so."

West Indies peace treaty. The general deficiencies appropriation bill also was approved as reported by conferees. Today's session was necessitated only by need for time to re-sign the measure in the proper form to be signed.

Record Session

An senators and representatives assembled, sleepy-eyed from brief rests following the arduous night sessions, both houses marked time while awaiting the final formalities of the greatest session of congress in many respects in history.

In closing addresses while awaiting the arrival of President Wilson, references to the long program of legislative achievement dominated chiefly by national defense preparations at a cost of more than $600,000,000 were made.

Democrats Laud Record

Democrats lauded the record of the session and commended it to the country while republicans alleged waste and extravagance in spite of the appropriations for defense.

Appropriations of $2,000,000,000

As the gavel was suspended to sound the end of the session, recapitulation of the nine months' work showed that there had been appropriated for the year 1917 for expenditures of the government more than $1,600,000,000 and that authorizations had been made for future expenditures which would bring the grand aggregate of appropriations almost to the $2,000,000,000 mark.

Administration champions in informal reviews of the congress answered republican taunts of a "two billion dollar congress" with declarations that the United States is a two billion dollar country.

Revenue Bill Passed

The senate began its session at 1 p. m., following an adjournment at 1 a. m., upon passage of the emergency revenue bill. At the outset Senator James Hamilton Lewis sought to have passed the Spanish war widows pension bill. Senator Hoke Smith announced that such a measure would not pass for several years if he could prevent it.

Corrupt Practices Bill

Senator Owen then addressed the senate on his corrupt practices bill. He said the democratic party had broken its platform pledge relating to such an act, and charged that a republican filibuster was responsible for the dilatory tactics which had prevented a vote. He withdrew it from consideration.

Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, protesting against action of the revenue conferees in stifling the bill, his amendment which would prohibit the admission of Pacific ocean salmon and halibut through a foreign country except in bond from an American port, declared congress had surrendered opportunity to develop a great American industry.

Investigate Foreign Lobby

"Talk about a lobby influencing congress," he cried, "what is that when a distinguished gentleman representing the Canadian government, Sir Joseph Pope, while he may not have besieged congress has been stinging officials of this government to discourage this measure?"

Senator Curtis offered another resolution directing the senate "lobby committee" which has been in existence for several years and has never reported, to investigate the alleged foreign lobby. Senator Chamberlain urged its adoption.

Homestead Grazing Bill

The homestead grazing bill was passed without record vote. It already has passed the house. It provides for stock-raising homesteads, raising the maximum area which may be entered for that purpose from 160 to 320 acres.

Soon after the president reached the capitol the revenue bill was ready for his signature. The senate adopted the concurrent resolution for a 10 o'clock adjournment, which already had been passed in the house.

President Signs Revenue Bill
President Wilson signed the emergency revenue bill at 2:25 o'clock.

The president held a reception in his room as a line of senators and representatives passed through while he sat at the table signing bills. To Senator Simmons the president expressed gratification over the passage of the revenue bill and its many legislative features. He said, however, that he greatly regretted the failure of the Webb bill to provide for establishment of American collective selling agencies in foreign countries.

Widows' Pension Bill
As the president was about to sign the $20 widows' pension bill, Representative Ashbrook of Ohio, its sponsor, asked to witness the signature.

SLEEPYTIME TALES

THE CLEVER CHIPMUNK

Once upon a time some wolves caught a poor little chipmunk and said to it, in their gruff voices: "You will make us a nice dinner." Now the chipmunk didn't want to make anyone a nice dinner and so he began to think how he could get away. All at once he began to dance around, first on his nose, then on one leg, then the other.

The wolves began to laugh, and the smart chipmunk said: "I can dance much better than that," and he started towards a tree dancing as he went, in and out among the trees he danced, first on his head, then on his tail, creeping further away all the time from the wolves. Hop around and hop again, did he, until the wolves laughed so hard they rolled on the ground and didn't see that their dinner was slipping away from them.

All at once one of them looked up and saw the chipmunk running as fast as he could toward its hole. With one leap they were all up and after the chipmunk, but although they could run faster, the chipmunk had such a start that in a minute it was running straight for its hole, and just as one of the wolves was about to take hold of its tail, it went safe from its enemies.

For a long time the wolves hung around hoping that it would stick out its head and then they could catch it again. At last they grew tired and left, calling back as they left, "we will get you yet and when we do you won't get away as easily as you did this time."

All that night the chipmunk dug and dug and by morning he had a new home and had moved in and felt quite safe from the wolves, although it was not a great way from his old home. The wolves, however, never found out where his home was and I am sure that Mr. Chipmunk lives there today.

HUGHES SPOKE AT LEWISTON ON 8 HOUR LAW

LEWISTON, Me., Sept. 8.—Charles F. Hughes, before an audience in the city hall here which frequently interrupted him with cheers and applause, today continued his attack on the administration in connection with the enactment of the Adamson law. Mr. Hughes asserted that the "whole country stood aghast" at "the abandonment of executive prerogative and congressional duty."

"Now if anyone rises in this country to say that I am not the friend of labor," the nominee said, "he knows he is not telling the truth." Mr. Hughes, reviewing his record in connection with labor legislation while governor of New York, read an editorial from the Legislative Labor News of October 1910, in which it was said that he was the "greatest friend of labor laws that ever occupied the governor's chair at Albany."

"That is complimentary, but it is true," Mr. Hughes said. "It was written at a time when I supported and they supposed that I had left the political field. It was an outburst of candor and it may be put alongside the other outbursts which are now being intended to poison the electorate. 'It is true I did not agree with all that labor proposed, I retained the full crew bill. It applied generally to railroads throughout the state. It was admitted that in some cases it was not needed and that it would require the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars unnecessarily.'

"What we need in this country is fair-mindedness. When we have a grievance the thing to do is to examine the bases of fact. If anybody says you can't get a fair examination that person indicates the intelligence and honesty of the American people. There is no question in this country that can't be settled if you get it in the right way."

"The bill to which I refer carried on its face the declaration of its own defects. It proceeded to absolutely impose a wage scale and then to consider it, to find out whether it had any business doing it."

"I want fair wages, but the principles of American government underlie every contract every opportunity of labor. Why, the laboring men of this country can no more take the chance of surrendering what has been won in our long fight than they can surrender the opportunities of their very existence. These things are vital to labor, to every American citizen. 'I say let public officers stand like rocks for principles that are fundamental, let come what may.'"

Mr. Hughes reached Lewiston, one of the chief labor centers of the state, shortly before 10.30 a. m. He rode through crowds to the Auditorium, where Theodore Roosevelt spoke last week, and was introduced to the audience by George C. Webber, who withdrew his candidacy for the progressive nomination as United States senator to support the republican ticket. Features of the street parade were the brass band, played by school boys of French lineage, and a huge American flag, carried outstretched by more than 50 white-capped boys in knee breeches.

The nominee left Lewiston for Waterville shortly after noon.

HUGHES ON THE JUMP
PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 8.—Charles F. Hughes entered upon the second of three strenuous days of campaigning in Maine, whose elections are to be held next Monday. Although most of the day's campaigning was confined to the central section of the state, he was due to swing east to Bangor, late today, for a meeting to-night.

The nominee left here at 8.40 a. m. with Lewiston as his first scheduled stop. He was due to reach there at 10 o'clock to make an address and to leave shortly after noon for Waterville. An early afternoon meeting at Waterville and a late afternoon meeting at Pittsfield were on the program. In addition to the night meeting at Bangor.

In addition to scheduled addresses, arrangements had been made for a number of brief stops, some with short talks, some for the purpose of shaking hands with persons who might gather to see him, on his way. After the meeting in Bangor, the nominee probably will spend the night at a hotel there, leaving early tomorrow morning for Augusta.

FALL OPENING

$5.00 Trousers Free

TO THE PUBLIC OF LOWELL: I always figure Labor Day week the opening of the fall season, and to that date I have devoted my energies in the EIGHT YEARS in Lowell. I want every yard of cloth in my store to be brand new. I show all the new fads and fancies for fall. New Battleship Gray Worsted, fine Black Belgian Drape for social and dress wear, the Famous Wanskuk heavy serges, the new Tobacco Brown over-plaids, Scotch effects in heather, olives, and gray shades, the new Green Stripe touched up with a little yellow, popular for young men, Sherriff's famous silk mixtures and satin-back worsteds, the finest and dressiest goods you ever laid your eyes on.

SPECIAL—To Follow My Custom of 8 Years

On all orders taken on this range of goods, for this fall opening, I shall include an extra pair of trousers FREE.

WORKMANSHIP—Since I began business it has been my constant aim to devise every means of making my tailoring product more perfect. Today I honestly believe that I produce the finest tailored garments in the country for the money. Our proof of this is shown on weekly pay roll, of 60 per cent., for labor alone which goes to the Journeyman Tailor.

I have renovated my back shop, which in the past has been small, extended my pressing department to the daylight basement. When all things are in place I will have the most convenient and sanitary custom coat shop in Lowell, situated so that a man ordering a suit of clothes or an overcoat in my store can see garments in the process of making, see the sanitary conditions under which his garments are made.

If you are in town Today or Tomorrow, whether you have ever traded with me before or not, I welcome you to look my line over, take samples, you don't have to buy, visit my back shop, examine any detail you may desire, bring such persons with you who are familiar with the fine points of tailoring and let me show you such garments as I have hanging on my line waiting to be delivered to customers who have ordered them.

To Force Early Fall Orders For Friday and Saturday

I will give a pair of trousers absolutely free with suit or overcoat order.

SPECIAL

MR. READER, if some morning you woke up and read in this paper how MITCHELL THE TAILOR has bought out your favorite tailor, the man who charged you $50.00 to $60.00 for a suit of clothes, I want you to weigh well this fact, that his merchandise does not depreciate one iota in the removal from his high-priced tailoring establishment to my store, where prices are less than one-third.

LAST WEEK A BOSTON COMMISSION HOUSE sold to me for spot cash, their entire consignment from a mill not fifty miles away from here. I cannot mention the name of the firm which sold me the goods, neither can I mention the name of this mill, it is the only restriction placed on me, but I have in my store, in my windows, hundreds of styles, with the original tickets on them. Not a yard of this purchase is worth less than $2.75 and some as high as $4.00. I want all my old customers to get in on this. They are goods that would be sold by the high-priced merchant tailor for prices ranging around $35.00 to $40.00. (Signed) MITCHELL.

SUIT OR OVERCOAT TO ORDER

$15.00

With Free PANTS

OVERCOATINGS

I invite the timid, the skeptical, and the doubting of all Lowell to call at my store today and Saturday. I want to show a purchase of 20 styles of plain and fancy overcoatings. I made preparations away in advance for this fall season and ordered goods six months ago so as to be able to get them at old prices. Today these same overcoatings, which are fresh from the looms of the best mills in this country, are from 20 to 30 per cent. higher than they were when I purchased them. I will give my customers the benefit of this difference in price, and make your coat any way you desire. You can have it ready in a week, or you may leave it for two months. (Signed) MITCHELL.

You don't spend any money now. Just your order.

ARTIST GETS SIX MONTHS TO PROVE HIS SANITY

RALPH ALBERT BLAKELOCK WAS HELD SEVENTEEN YEARS AS INSANE

ARTIST BLAKELOCK

Seated at a piano in a bungalow studio built for him at West Englewood, N. J., Ralph Albert Blakelock, the landscape artist whom fame found long after he had quit painting and had been sent to an insane asylum seventeen years ago, told his liberators that he would paint himself back to freedom. Softly touching the keys to accompany his words, he gave a picture of what he hoped to do despite his seventy years. Blakelock was brought from the State Hospital for the Insane at Middletown, N. Y., by Mrs. Van Benschoten Adams, of Orange, N. Y., to Lynwood Lodge, a private sanatorium. Mrs. Adams, who with other admirers of Blakelock's art had arranged for his release from Middletown on a six months' parole, went to the institution with a writ from the supreme court ordering that Blakelock be placed in her care. Blakelock hopes to paint such a picture as he believes is expected of him because of his election to the National Academy of Design last year. It is probable that landscape along the Hudson will be his subject. A fund of $10,000 has been raised for the painter. If he makes the pictures such as he used to make, he will soon be able to repay his benefactors. It was when he peddled his pictures in his seventeenth year ago in an effort to support his family that he lost his mind. The career of Blakelock has been one of the tragedies of American art. He was born in New York in 1847. He never attended an art school, but studied alone and gave play to his talent. His first fame came from Indian canvases, but his landscapes won him lasting place.

Distinctly ultra is this arrangement of tie and string belt. Please observe how smart is the checked fabric, green and white silk, with plain green border and collar. Another fall find is the sweater girdle in the back.

URGES BULL MOOSE TO VOTE FOR PRES. WILSON

HALL SAYS THE PROGRESSIVES HAVE RESPONSIBILITY IN COMING ELECTION

DOVER, Me., Sept. 7.—Maine progressives were urged by Matthew Hale, acting chairman of the progressive national committee, in an address here last night, to help secure the re-election of President Wilson by voting the democratic ticket at the state election next Monday.

"We have no candidate of our own, thanks to the treachery of our national leaders to whom we had entrusted our interests," he said. "We have, however, a great responsibility toward the whole progressive movement in this coming election; for the result of the election in November, as is conceded by both democratic and republican leaders, depends on the progressive vote. We now have it in our power to re-elect Mr. Wilson or elect Mr. Hughes. How shall we exercise that power?

"Some tell us that this is no longer an open question, because our vote has already been delivered to Mr. Hughes. This is not true, because the progressive men and women of this country are not the kind whose vote can be delivered by a small group of political bosses and Wall street capitalists acting together to defeat the wishes of the rank and file of the party, as made manifest by the progressive national convention last June and by the action of many state organizations since then.

"The progressive vote is not going to be delivered to Mr. Wilson or Mr. Hughes; the progressive vote is not going to be driven like sheep into either republican or democratic corral;

the progressive voters are going to make up their minds as patriotic, thoughtful American citizens, and are going to cast their vote as individuals for Mr. Wilson or Mr. Hughes in accordance to the dictates of their consciences and their reason. And it is to your conscience and to your reason that I wish to appeal tonight."

TO RESUME DRILLING

Three Local Companies of Sixth Regiment Will Begin Winter Schedule on Sept. 18

Drilling will be resumed by Companies C, G and K of the Sixth regiment in the Westford street armory the week of the 18th of September, after a brief vacation period. The three companies, which went to camp on the sixth of August and remained for nearly two weeks, have not drilled since that time, but maneuvers will again be resumed on regular drill nights after Sept. 18.

There is considerable work to be done at the armory preparatory to the fall season following the summer vacation. Capt. Walter R. Jeyes, the armorer, and his assistant are now busy cleaning up the regiment's equipment after the encampment and they are also putting things in shape inside the armory so that the companies' quarters will be ready for them when the drilling begins.

NOE DAUNAIS MISSING

Not Daunais, father of 19 children, residing at 14 Sparks street, has been missing since Wednesday evening and his wife and children are very anxious to hear from him. Mr. Daunais, who is reputed to be a very industrious and sober man, was employed in a local shoe shop and despite the fact that he has reared a large family, he managed by thrift and hard work to build a comfortable home for these dependent on him.

Last Wednesday Mr. Daunais worked all day, but did not report at his home for supper, and not one word as to his whereabouts has been received by the family since. Mrs. Daunais, who has reported the matter to the police, fears her husband has met with foul play, for she sees no reason why he should abandon his ten children, who have always been the pride of his life.

LOWELL BOYS ON NAVAL CRUISE ARE HAPPY

Following is a second letter from Jos. P. Quinn of The Sun staff, on the naval cruise aboard the U. S. S. Virginia. Mr. Quinn tells of many incidents of the cruise, particularly those in which some of the boys from Lowell and vicinity figured. The letter:

U. S. S. VIRGINIA, Block Island, R. I., Sept. 4.—A month ago we were just ordinary landlubbers. Some of us had become acquainted with the sea as passengers on an ocean steamer, half a dozen had taken the boat to Portland or New York—from Boston—and several had qualified as navigators in a canoe on the Concord or the Merrimack. Through the dime novels of our childhood and later literature of the sea, we had a smattering of sea phrases, but when confronted with the real thing we were as clueless as the dullest. We were green as grass and we were playing at being sailors on a seven million dollar battleship where one might stay all his life and learn new marvels every day.

And now! We hate to talk about ourselves, but before two weeks have passed, twenty salty seafarers from the battleship Virginia will be back in Lowell, each with his honorable discharge from the naval service of Uncle Sam. This certificate of service is given as a "testimonial of fidelity and patriotism" and will be signed by Captain Jackson, commander of the Virginia. To be sure, nobody could win such distinction who has not given good service, so our reputation as naval experts in our various departments is assured for ever and aye. We may be confronted now and then with the scorn of the seafarer or the tumult of the envious, but we shall rise superior to occasion and say "Lay off mate and cast your running lights on this ticket."

The Great Battle

The war maneuvers actually started on Aug. 22, but preparations were going on for some days previous. The reserve fleet had been divided into offensive and defensive squadrons, otherwise known respectively as the "Reds" and the "Blues." The Virginia was one of the defensive battleships, and the war game was talked up in formal lectures and in informal conversations with the officers until the civilians of Lowell and Boston thought they were really defending the Atlantic coast against attack. For four days there was an air of mystery throughout the ship, everybody in authority looking as though he knew a lot and could not tell anything. Our scout cruisers kept track of the blue fleet and we knew where it was located until one misty day, when we lost track of it. Meantime the gun drills were being held every morning and each man knew automatically what his battle station would be in actual conflict. One evening, we were gathered for a social time on the forecastle anticipating the movies, when the torpedo defence drill was given and we were obliged to rush to our quarters and act as though we were menaced by a U-boat of the enemy. Fire drills, collision drills and gun drills were also held and the guard duties and watches kept most of us on the alert except during the very few hours that we swung in our hammocks. For almost six days we were out of sight of land and eager to get at the enemy. At last—it was on the afternoon of Aug. 27—one of our destroyers appeared on the horizon and steamed up at full speed. She sent a boat to the Virginia and reported that the enemy was in our vicinity and that we would come face to face with them in a short time. The Virginia was made ready for action and we waited for the foe. The night before the battle, the ship was darkened and we manned the guns and took stations. There was a funny side to the situation as the men tried to find their hammocks when the order to turn in was given, and there was much stifled jubilation as they collected in the dark or ran off with the wrong hammock.

Next morning there was nothing to indicate the excitement of the night before. We had not sighted the enemy and we were still alive and defending the country against a supposedly foreign foe. We were appropriately enough, having battle practice next day when the enemy was sighted on the horizon. He was off the starboard bow and at a considerable distance. Recalling the enthusiasm of the preceding evening it was hard to keep at attention, and most of us managed to sneak out on the starboard deck to face the foe. One by one his dozen large battleships passed in line formation and his guns boomed either a broadside or salute. Soon the sea was calm and untroubled as before and we held unchallenged sway as our ships ploughed on towards the south.

West of the battle and the Virginia was either captured or sunk. It seemed too bad to die without a struggle and in the flower of our youth, but we went down like true sons of Lowell. Some time when the new high school is built, when Pawtucketville bridge is completed and when we have a public hall, we shall petition for a commemorative monument at the Dracut Navy Yard with the names of the 20 good men and true who stood by their guns and went down on the U. S. S. Virginia on Aug. 26, 1916. One man does not deserve to have his name on the tablet but it is just as well to let him slide in with the bunch of heroes, like many a phoney hero of history.

At Old Point Comfort

Now that we are in our watery graves theoretically, let us proceed to what we did actually. We headed straight for Hampton Roads, Va., for target practice. Nobody will blame us for hungering a little for the life of the shore, especially when the shore showed some splendid hotels, beautiful scenery and girls in pink and blue and yellow. Really the eternal blue of the sea and the glaring white of 300 spotless uniforms get monotonous and there have got to be some colors into the life of the sailor. This word "color" must not be connected with Virginia in any but an artistic sense, by the way. Well, we had our shore leave and lots of color—or, rather, atmosphere. Lowell tourists who have lunched at Norfolk know that Trevelyan is rather fashionable, with the fine Hotel Chamberlain and other pleasure places. A mile or so away is the town of Phoebus, which is Virginian indeed, but which by no stretch of the imagination could be called fashionable. We went to Phoebus. Shore leave was on Sunday afternoon and we had a great day. We were busy naturally, all the sailormen from Lowell and everywhere else were on hand when the return tug steamed towards the dock.

Target Practice

Target practice was the great event—something of us will have the snowfall of time in our hair before we forget it. For two weeks we were having daily drill in battle practice and battery. There are three divisions of volunteers and each division has had several crews of 12 men each. As the target practice approached, the 12 crews were chosen—one for each 3-inch gun. Several Lowell boys had places in the gun crews, and many of us had exciting and exciting duties. Wallace Butterfield was on the voice tube that controls the action of the gun from the superstructure. His duty was to relay the orders of the spotting officer to each gun crew. It was a very important place but he was equal to it in his smiling imperturbable way. It was a safe distance from the leading and firing of the shells, and that helped him to keep cool.

Joe Pyne was the voice tube for another group, but once when they wanted him he could not be found, so they put on a substitute. Opinions vary as to where Joseph was, but the consensus of opinion is that he was asleep somewhere down near the double bottoms or looking for something sweet in the canteen. Being superlatively brave, Joseph is now very sorry that he had no station in the gun drill, but he says about the same thing of the deck scrubbing that he ducked after the first week. When Joe tells his tales of the briny deep after his return to school, it will be wise for his auditors to refer the story to the confirmatory committee of the Lowell group.

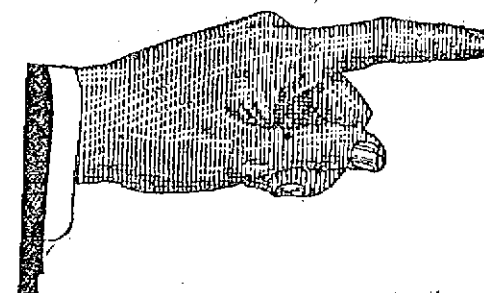

W. M. Holman was gun captain of gun No. 5. He has been one of the most efficient squad leaders of the civilians and his gun crew was one of the three that made four hits out of five shots. Mr. Holman has had very little trouble with his men but he has found it hard to keep awake sunny afternoons after a strenuous drill. James P. O'Shea and M. P. O'Brien were first and second shotmen, respectively on gun No. 4, which managed to get three hits. They were fortunate in having a captain who knew how to get results and who kept the right spirit in his crew. Mr. O'Brien, having a great time, but he will not admit that one can have as good a time in Phoebus as in Block Island.

Edward Welch was first trainer on gun No. 5. The trainer has a great deal to do with keeping the gun straight on the target and Eddie did his part in obtaining the three hits of this crew. He has the knack of keeping cool in target practice, where coolness is as essential as it is rare.

Joe O'Dea was third shotman on No. 2 and he admits that he was worked up over the job. The third shotman has to work quickly and to think a little more so than the first and second shotmen. The only sad part of the day is that No. 9 did not get any hit—but then the third shotman has nothing to do with ranges or accuracy of aim. Frederick Marshall had a similar position on gun No. 11, which made three hits. When he brought out his positions were reversed so good the scores. Marshall has developed into a considerable wit, the salt sea air being a wonderful brain fertilizer. When it acts on a brain already brilliant the effect is wonderful—and Marshall has been mistaken in the dark for one of the searchlights so bright have been his remarks.

Sherman Blair was third shotman on No. 12 which got four hits. One day during practice he was acting first shotman which is a post of danger. Danger is sweeter than pie to Sherman and he felt crestfallen when he got back to school. However, our Lowell citizen has the distinction of being on one of the record-making crews.

TWO WOMEN AND CHILD CAUGHT ON R. R. BRIDGE

ONE WOMAN CLUNG TO EDGE AND ALLOWED LOCOMOTIVE TO PASS HER WITHIN A FEW INCHES

TILTON, N. H., Sept. 5.—Two women and a child were crossing the long steel bridge over the Winnepesaukee river east of this village yesterday afternoon when the 2.17 Boston express came around the bend at probably 40 miles an hour.

The younger woman and child reached the end of the bridge but the elderly woman was unable to, and, seeing she was caught, she lay down as near the edge as possible and allowed the locomotive to pass her within a few inches. The engineer applied the emergency brakes, but was unable to stop his train before it reached the woman. She was picked up by willing hands of the railroad men and taken to safety, where it was found she suffered only a nervous shock.

KING GEORGE SHOWN RUINS OF BATTLE; BELGIAN RULERS SEE HEROES REWARDED

KING GEORGE V WATCHING PRINCE OF WALES EXAMINE CAPTURED TRENCH

KING AND QUEEN OF THE BELGIANS AT FRONT

The recent visit of King George V to the Somme front in France was marked by incidents which will become historic. It will be recalled that nothing was known of his visit to the general public of any country until after the king got safely back to England. It has now been learned that the Prince of Wales guided the king on the battlefields and in the picture the prince is seen in a captured German trench, while the king and his officers are watching him from level ground. Lord Stamfordham, Sir Derek Keppel, Lieutenant Colonel C. Wigram and Major Thompson are with him. Before he left for England he presented medals to heroes of the Belgian forces which co-operated in the recent British offensive. King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians were witnesses to this ceremony and in the lower photograph are seen looking on while their son in the boy scout uniform is standing behind them standing with the Prince of Wales.

MALDEN YOUNG MAN JUMPED OVERBOARD WOMEN AND CHILDREN KILLED IN AIR RAIDS THE MEXICAN-AMERICAN JOINT COMMISSION

FEARING ARREST FOR DISTURBANCE ON STEAMER, HE PLUNGED TO HIS DEATH

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 5.—Fearing arrest for causing a disturbance on the steamer from Boston, according to the police, Robert Callahan of Malden, Mass., jumped from the steamer at the dock here early today and was drowned. He was 22 years of age and son of a prominent city official of Malden.

IRISH ATHLETE KILLED
BOSTON, Sept. 8.—Information that Michael Donovan, a prominent Irish athlete, has died in a Boulogne hospital, France, from gunshot wounds in the head, yesterday reached many of his friends in Boston. Donovan was wounded while in action on the French front, where the Canadian contingent distinguished itself.

Private Donovan who was 24 years of age and was a native of Bandon County Cork, was employed by the Cummings Woolen company, of Worcester, at the outbreak of the war. He joined at Ottawa, Canada, the famous Canadian regiment, Princess Patricia's Light Infantry. He went to France in January, 1915 and saw active service with his regiment up to the time of his death.

Private Donovan was a famed athlete in Ireland and was considered a crack shot with the rifle. He is survived besides his mother, and two brothers in England and France, by a brother, James Donovan of Wellington road, Medford and two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Harris of Auburn, and Mrs. William Finn of East Cambridge.

B. & M. RECEIVERSHIP

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—The directors of the Boston & Maine railroad issued yesterday their first statement in defense of their course approving a receivership for the road. The defense was contained in a letter sent out to the stockholders, who are called to meet on Sept. 19 for a discussion of the receivership situation.

The statement says that approval of a receivership was given only after it appeared certain to the directors that permanent relief from the B. & M.'s financial difficulties could not be brought about by a friendly reorganization on any fair basis, that the road could not meet its obligations in the form of notes maturing on Aug. 31, and that further extension of the notes without reasonable hope of a friendly reorganization that would take care of them permanently, could accomplish no good end.

BERLIN REPORTS OVER 1000 CIVILIANS KILLED BY ALLIED AEROPLANES

BERLIN, Sept. 8. (By wireless to Sayville.)—In the month of August, the Overseas News agency announces 31 men, 27 women and 17 children, all civilians, were killed in the occupied districts of France and Belgium as a result of artillery and aeroplane bombardments by the entente allies. TWO STUDENT AVIATORS HURLED TO THE GROUND

BIPLANE FLYING 750 FEET OVER GOVERNOR'S ISLAND BECAME UNMANAGEABLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Flying at a height of between 600 and 750 feet over Governor's island today a biplane containing J. Walter W. Strutgers and Charles D. Wiman, student aviators in training for the aero reserve corps authorized recently by President Wilson, became unmanageable for some unknown reason and fell to the ground. Each aviator had one leg broken and received cuts on the head and were possibly internally injured. Both are expected to recover. They were two of eleven pupils in training at Governor's island and it was stated that this was the first serious accident in 1100 flights by members of this aero corps. Strutgers and Wiman, the latter a member of a former Yale crew were regarded as advanced pupils.

RESUMPTION OF CONFERENCES — MEXICANS TO REQUEST WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS

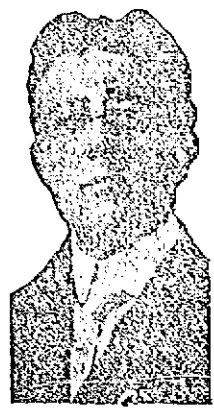

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 8.—At the resumption here today of the conferences of the Mexican-American joint commission seeking a permanent settlement of the international difficulties, it was regarded as probable that before this afternoon's deliberations were concluded, the Mexican delegates would make a formal request for the withdrawal of Gen. Pershing's punitive expedition from Mexican territory. Papers bearing directly upon this phase of the situation were studied here yesterday by the American commissioners. Ideas relative to the maintenance of order along the border were exchanged today. With Franklin K. Lane, heading the American delegation, presiding, the representatives of the two governments engaged in discussion which it was expected would result in progress looking toward a better understanding of the objects in view.

PRINCIPAL FARM CROPS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Production of the principal farm crops of the country were forecast today by the department of agriculture from their September condition, or at time of harvest as follows: (Figures in millions of bushels.) Spring wheat 155. All wheat 611. Corn 2710.

FOR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—The two western players, Chick Evans and Robert A. Gardner, finished the forenoon round today 3 and 4 up on their respective opponents, for the national amateur golf championship, Corkran of Baltimore and Leslie Guilford, the Massachusetts champion. Both Evans and Corkran showed a propensity for driving in water and traps in their round but in several cases followed with brilliant recoveries. The putting as a rule was mediocre, the play having a tendency to overrun the cup on the hard, fast greens. The gallery was rather slim after the throngs that followed the Gardner-Jones match of yesterday.

BOXING, GOLF
AND ATHLETICSBRAVES LOSE TWO GAMES AND ALSO HUGHES

The Braves pennant hopes received a severe setback yesterday, when they dropped two games to the Phillies and Long Tom Hughes, Stallings' most dependable pitcher, was put out of commission by a pitched ball that hit him on the back of the throwing hand. The double win made it a clean sweep for the Phils. They won the three regulation games that were played and battled to a five inning tie on Tuesday. The present winning streak of the Patmorans now includes eight victories over Brooklyn and Boston, a record that proves that they have a right to be confident of again landing the flag.

Rixey and Mayer both worked effectively against the weak hitting Braves. The former easily outpitched Pat Ragan in the first. In the second, Hughes held the Phils to two hits in five innings but had to give way to Barnes when his hand was injured. Two runs in the ninth decided the game.

The Braves made but 11 hits in the two games, getting six in the first and five in the second. The Moran sluggers batted out 12 safeties in the first and were able to win the second on six hits. Over 15,000 fans saw the games.

Today, the Braves begin a series with Brooklyn equally as important as the Philadelphia games. If they don't make a better showing, however, and win a large percentage of the games, all the aspirations for the flag that they ever had will have faded.

Red Sox Made Gain

The Red Sox made a full game gain on Detroit yesterday, by winning the getaway contest from the Mackmen 2 to 0, while the Tigers were being downed by the Browns. Carrigan's team now leads Detroit by two full games. Boston was out-hit and out-fielded, but managed by some way or other to pull out ahead. The Athletics secured seven hits against four made by the Red Sox, and the latter slipped up on three plays while Philadelphia just erred once. Foster twirled a strong game, and had better control than his opponent, Nabors.

WITH THE PADDED MITTS

Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, who a few years ago was rated as one of the best big men in the country was a spectator at the bouts held in Boston this week, and when he was introduced from the ring the fans nearly went wild with enthusiasm for the former champion. Jack was accompanied to the Hub by his younger brother, who boxes under the name of "Young Jack" O'Brien, fresh from his victory over Jimmy Coffey the New York welterweight the night before at Providence. The famous Philadelphia is looking fine and he stated that he would attempt a comeback this winter and none of the present crop of heavies would be barred. John Hebler, boxer known as "John the Barber," who controls three big boxing clubs in New York, said that he is willing to stage a bout with Philadelphia Jack as a principal in the near future.

O'Brien has been working out with his brother, conditioning the youngster for all his fights and is in condition at present to step into a ring with any opponent that may be selected by the promoters and give an excellent account of himself.

O'Brien's great battles with the topnotchers will long be remembered by ring followers, especially the Sam

Langford, Stanley Ketchell and Jack Johnson bouts which took place in Philadelphia some years ago and the veteran more than held his own with the above array of talent. Jack was one of the most tricky and scientific men in the history of the game and the great uphill battle he fought against Al Kaufman who outweighed him 30 or 40 pounds will go down as great a boxing feat as ever happened. Kaufman was going along in wonderful style at that time and when he and O'Brien were matched the press of the country thought it was bad judgment on the part of the matchmaker but when the bout was over they thought differently, for the big lumbering Kaufman could not get near O'Brien, who pecked away at his opponent's face and in the 15th round, Kaufman's manager threw in the sponge as his man could not see, both eyes being closed by the Philadelphia attack.

Young Jack is following in his famous brother's footsteps and bids fair to reach the top of the heap in the welterweight class. When he defeated Jimmy Coffey Monday he climbed the pugilistic ladder with a bound as Coffey is rated highly over in New York. The matchmaker of the Providence club wants to use Young Jack again and it is likely that Coffey will also be selected to meet him.

Terry Martin the promising Providence bantamweight will meet More Atell of California at the Marienville, N. J. club next Wednesday evening in the main go of 15 rounds. Atell is a brother of the ex-featherweight champion, Abe Atell, and is seconded and managed by him. Martin is a dangerous fighter and Atell will have to be at his best to defeat the Providence boy.

Charley Sheppard and Johnny Downes will meet at C.A.C. of Boston tonight in a 10 rounder. Sheppard has beaten Downes' stablemate, Johnny Downes twice and Downes is out to avenge his past losses. Carlo Arzuffi and George Robinson feature the bill.

ST. FRISCO WINS
RACE AGAINST
MABEL TRASK

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 8.—The 31st renewal of the Charter Oak purse, which was contested yesterday afternoon, made turf history, for the victory which goes to the credit of the great stallion St. Frisco was not achieved until new figures for a six-horse trotting race had been placed on the books. 2:07 1/4, 2:07 1/4, 2:07 1/4, 2:07 1/4, 2:07 1/4, 2:07 1/4.

This, the seventh duel between St. Frisco and Mabel Trask, proved to be the most desperately fought of the series. The finishes were very close and in three heats the decision of the judges was awaited with a tenseness that is born of uncertainty.

That the judges twice overlooked the daughter of Peter the Great in their desire to see the son of San Francisco first seems to be the general opinion of the horsemen. Mabel Trask won the first and third heats by her own length. The second heat the judges decided that St. Frisco finished even with her and in the sixth they could not see her better than second.

Cox was a much surprised man when the announcement of the dead heat was made. He did not count the finish as questionably close, and as he walked back up the stretch Frank G. Jones, owner of St. Frisco, remarked to him, "You have just a bit the best of us always."

Cox and Mabel's owner, Barton Pardo, are not alone in the belief that the wonderful little campaigner stands as loser of a race in which she really won four heats.

The companion pieces to this grand contest were a 2-year-old and a 2 1/4 trot. The last named was won by the Murphy entry, Pittsburgh, who had something of a task to get away with Tregantle King that Norman Tallman is racing for Beaumont Farm, Newton, Mass.

The king all but gained the decision in the second heat and the third was first, marching into the 2:10 list, chased by Coatsless Mabel. The colt race was won by Emma Magowan, a nice-looking daughter of J. Malcolm Forbes. 2:05, in 2:12 1/4, 2:14 1/4, with Fred Hyde's Labe Ridel second. Before the races four Massachusetts trotters were given records: St. Todd II, 2:11 1/4; Eleanor Watts, 2:21 1/4; Toddy S., 2:19 1/4; and Silver Harvest, 2:21 1/4. The meeting closes tomorrow with racing over the half-mile track. The summary:

HOACIPS JUDGMENT THE BEST

There is hardly any question in the minds of those who have followed Eastern league affairs this season, that Andy Rouch exercised the best judgment in sticking out for a labor day closing. The league clubs would have saved money by paying their players to the end of the season and remaining idle. There has been no interest in the league for weeks and it will be a very easy matter to count the heads at the games in the league for the next two weeks. The managers are acting against their better senses.—Lawrence Tribune.

WELSH AND DUNDEE MATCHED

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 8.—An offer of an $18,000 purse for a 20-round fight here Jan. 1 for the world's lightweight championship between Freddie Welsh of England, titleholder, and Johnny Dundee of New York, was telegraphed yesterday by a local fight promoter to Welsh in New York and Dundee in Kansas City.

An acceptance was wired New Orleans fight promoters last night by Johnny Dundee, New York lightweight, for a match there on Jan. 1 with Freddie Welsh of England, the titleholder.

MACK PICKS PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—Connie Mack says: "The Phillies look like the team to me. They have arrived at the right time, and I think they will be very hard to stop. The Brooklyn team has evidently broken and something must happen to them to get them going again. It may be they can come back against New York, but the Giants just now are playing good ball. The Phillies certainly look like winners."

WORRIED OVER PITCHERS

Manager Bill Carrigan of the Boston Red Sox is beginning to worry over his pitching staff—one department which has given him no concern up to the present time in the American league race. Manager Carrigan gave the Red Sox a talking to yesterday morning. He realizes that the team will have to hustle to win the honors. Jack Barry is being missed.

THE HAGUE, the Netherlands, Sept. 8, via London.—Brussels was bombarded by a squadron of 15 aeroplanes Wednesday, according to an eye-witness of the raid who has arrived here. He said he was sitting with friends in a hotel in the centre of the city. Anti-aircraft guns immediately went into action.

It was then 1 o'clock in the morning, he said, and some time previously soldiers had issued warnings for the extinguishing of all lights.

The aeroplanes were seen distinctly, he declared, and some flew so low that they seemed to touch the roof of the hotel, but their nationality was not made out. Guests in the upper rooms of the hotel fled hurriedly downstairs.

In addition to bomb explosions and firing continued until daybreak. One machine, he added, was reported to have been brought down at Porte Louise on the outskirts of the city. He said the damage done had not been ascertained when he left Brussels.

"This was the most important raid in a long while," he said. "Smaller attacks occur almost every other day. These frequent air visits by entente aeroplanes hearten the Belgian people wonderfully, and inevitably lead to exaggerated notions of the impending departure of the Germans."

This is the first report of an air raid on Brussels Wednesday. British official statement issued on Sept. 7 reported that on the two preceding days British aeroplanes had made a raid on Hohen, near Antwerp, and on a town near Bruges.

GIRL SUES FOR $50,000
BOSTON, Sept. 8.—Miss Georgia Edith Ames, a Brookline young woman, yesterday filed suit in the Suffolk superior court for $50,000 against Henry C. Luce of Marion, alleging breach of promise.

Their wedding was scheduled to take place this fall, Miss Ames says, and relations were cut short by Mr. Luce for no apparent reason last June 25, the day following her birthday.

GETS DIVORCE IN 15 MINUTES
BOSTON, Sept. 8.—George W. Proctor of Brookline, the pianist and protégé of Mrs. John L. Gardner, yesterday secured a divorce in the probate superior court from his wife, Margaret L. Proctor, on the ground of desertion.

The proceedings occupied a little over 15 minutes. No contest was made by Mrs. Proctor, although the fact that the case appeared in the printed list among the contested libels indicated that originally she intended to contest it.

MAGNATES PULL HONER

It looks as if the Eastern league magnates pulled a boner when they refused to close up shop on labor day as originally planned at a meeting in this city a couple of months ago. The withdrawal of Andy Rouch, the game little Lowell magnate, from the circuit, uncovered a lot of interesting facts that made good reading and in turn did not help the league. Rouch turned the magnates that if they didn't go through with their original plans that he would quit, and he has made good his threat. Rouch is in no way to blame. He has sunk close on to $20,000 in baseball the last few years, and it would have been foolish for him to take any more chances. He acted honorably enough, and has always been fair and square to the league and the players who have worked with him.—Worcester Post.

WILLIAMS' TENNIS COMEBACK, IN BEATING JOHNSTON, HAS UPSET THE EXPERTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The old adage that a defeated champion never scores a comeback was given a severe test when R. Norris Williams, 24, recaptured his title of national lawn tennis champion of the United States by defeating William M. Johnston in the title match on the west side tennis courts at Forest Hills, N. Y. Not only did Williams give the experts of the game one of the saddest setbacks of recent years, but he displayed to the general sporting public that in him was embodied all of the requirements of a national champion. In the face of adverse criticism the former Harvard tennis leader played a quality of game that has seldom before been witnessed on any tennis court. Throughout his palmiest days never played with any more dash or generalship than did Williams in this memorable match. Against him was pitted the brainiest player of the tennis world. William M. Johnston is without doubt the craftiest wielder of the tennis racket of the present day. In fact, many class him as the wisest of all time. The California champion employed every method known to his fertile tennis brain to outmaneuver Williams. All of his efforts brought forth fruit. The present title holder was master of his crafty California rival and defeated him because of his ability to put forth a better brand of tennis. Williams' feat of scoring a comeback on the tennis map will do much to increase interest in the game. Many experts were of the opinion that the national title holder of 1914 had tackled too hard a job when he essayed to win back his national honors in this season's tournament. Upper photo shows Williams and Johnston playing the last set of their recent match. Lower picture Williams, on left, shaking hands with Johnston after the match.

LOWELL BOY SOLDIER TOOK FRENCH LEAVE

Mrs. Fred Guyette, who formerly resided at 57 Ford street is wanted at the local office of Congressman Rogers in the Hildreth building, where a postal money order to the amount of $12 awaits her. The money is not a gift from anyone, but simply a refund on the part of the Canadian government. Sometime ago Mrs. Guyette, whose son, Andrew W., was in the Canadian volunteer army, was requested to send $12 for the release of her son, who is a minor, the money to be used for transportation to Lowell. It seems, however, after the money was sent that the young man had left the army. Andrew W. Guyette several months ago disappeared mysteriously from this city and a week or so later his mother received a letter from him, dated somewhere in Canada, to the effect that he had enlisted in the Canadian army. He informed his mother that he had been hired in Merrimack street, this city, to go to Canada to work, but at that time there was no mention of enlisting in the army. When he reached his destination, he claims he was forced to enlist in the army, with the result that he became a member of the 130th Volunteer battalion. He did not care for military life and he urged his mother to do all in her power to obtain his discharge. Mrs. Guyette took the matter up with Congressman Rogers, who in turn communicated with Robert Lansing, secretary of state at Washington and with the American consul general in Ottawa, Ont. Sometime ago the Canadian authorities notified the congressman that the boy's release could not be obtained unless he had $12 in his possession and accordingly Mrs. Guyette sent the money to Canada through the congressman. A few days ago Congressman Rogers was the recipient of a money order amounting to $12, with instructions to remit the order to Mrs. Guyette. The money was accompanied by a note stating that Andrew W. Guyette's name had been struck off the roster of the 130th Battalion, as a deserter to take effect July 26. Xavier Delisle, secretary to the congressman has done all in his power to locate Mrs. Guyette, but his efforts have been fruitless. It is believed, however, that the woman is still a resident of this city, and she may receive the money order by presenting herself at the office of Congressman Rogers.

MANY KILLED AND INJURED DURING A REVOLT IN MOSCOW

BERLIN, Sept. 8, by wireless to Sayville.—Press despatches from Stockholm to the Overseas News agency report that a revolt occurred recently at Moscow, resulting in the killing or wounding of a large number of persons. According to this account, wounded Russian soldiers who were taken to Moscow in a hospital train were left for some time without care, with the result that a large crowd assembled and made protests. Soldiers who were ordered to fire on the crowd refused to do so, these reports say, whereupon police were sent against the soldiers, resulting in a sanguinary encounter.

The struggle is now under way over the whole front in Dobruja between the Danube and the Black sea. Fighting is particularly desperate near Baltjik, on the Black sea coast about 10 miles north of the Bulgarian frontier. AGAINST UNPAID BOARDS

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—In expressing his disapproval of various city departments being in charge of unpaid boards, Mayor Curley told the city council yesterday that the overseers of the poor should be replaced by a single official, paid a salary sufficiently large to insure an efficient administration and the obtaining of results. The mayor expressed regret that under the statutes he does not possess the power to eliminate the board of overseers.

But he declared that at the next meeting of the council he would probably submit an order for the changing of the city ordinances so that the board of inferior trustees, another unpaid commission, could be either displaced by a single official or consolidated with the health department of some other city branch.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

TO HOLD OUR PROSPERITY

How shall we hold our present high degree of prosperity?

Never before perhaps was the city more prosperously engaged than at the present time. Nobody is now idle who wants to work. It should be the aim of all good citizens to continue this state of prosperity indefinitely. There is a bare possibility that a slump may come when the U. S. Cartridge shop begins to curtail as it must towards the close of the war. It is quite probable that our other industries at present running short-handed for lack of help, could handle the number that may thus be left idle.

Several of our mills complain that hundreds of their skilled operatives left and found employment in the Cartridge plants at high wages. That is but natural. The operatives have a right to go where their services command the highest wages. The mills in all probability will have to increase wages to get them back. The shoe shops are also complaining of difficulty in getting skilled help, but all have been enjoying a fair degree of prosperity.

Throughout the city, there is a great scarcity of tenements—a real sign of growth and prosperity. To meet this, something should be done in the direction of annexing additional territory, first to afford room for easy growth and to prevent crowding; second, to give us more acceptable sites for new industries; and third, to afford our people the needed opportunity to acquire property in the suburbs, where they can do a little farming.

This is a matter of vital importance to our city and one which our board of trade and other progressive citizens should take up. The townsfolk should see the possibilities of rapid development of property through annexation and bring the matter up for action through organization.

The board of trade some time ago appointed a very excellent committee to consider questions of this kind, but unfortunately nothing has been heard from it. There is a big field for mutual benefit between the city of Lowell and the surrounding towns through this matter of annexation.

Our municipal council should see the necessity of bringing in new property for development as a future source of revenue. The municipality that does things will thrive and prosper; that which is afraid to move onward will perforce go backward. If no other public body takes up the matter of annexation, the municipal council should deal with it directly or else appoint a committee for that purpose.

BEATEN OFF VERDUN

One thing very noticeable in the recent war despatches from Europe is, that Germany is being gradually beaten back over the ground that she fought so hard to win in front of the fortress of Verdun.

This is not surprising in view of what the Germans have to contend with on the other battle fronts. The offensive of the allies shows that they are stronger than ever before, while the Germans are proportionally weaker. What is true of Germany in this respect applies in a greater degree to Austria and Hungary.

Bulgaria is fresh in the fight, but the entrance of Rumania will enable the allies to crush the Bulgars in short order. Turkey's turn will come later and her power must be curtailed for two reasons: first, in order that Russia may have a free passage of the Dardanelles and second, that the Turks will never hereafter have the power to threaten the safety of the Suez canal. If the allies win the war, as now appears probable, Russia and England will insist upon the extinction of Turkey as a military power. France is taking advantage of the situation to drive back the enemy. She expects to be hammering at Metz and Strasbourg in the near future.

HONOR MR. FRANCIS

In reference to the man whose name should be commemorated in the proposed Dummer Street Parkway, we suggested "Butler" and "Ayer" as preferable to that of Whistler. Now that the name of the late James B. Francis has been suggested for this distinction, we hasten to endorse the idea as immeasurably more worthy of adoption than that which would honor a man who forsook his country and who although an artistic genius, was in many respects a man who could neither be admired nor commended.

On the other hand, James B. Francis almost during his entire life was identified with Lowell and her interests. Coming here in his boyhood, it was through his genius that the great waterway system was perfected. At one time he discovered that Irishmen in the Merrimack river might destroy a large portion of the city and to avert such a disaster, he planned the guard locks on Broadway. His engineering ability was shown in the construction of the Northern canal and other waterways leading to the mills of Lowell and largely furnishing the power to run their machinery in the early days.

Mr. Francis wrote a book on hydraulics that became the textbook in engineering colleges not only in this country, but in England and France. His advice was sought on engineering problems all over this country. He served as member of the city hall commission and as alderman; and he always showed a deep interest in the welfare of Lowell, her industries and her progress.

Mr. Francis was a very modest and retiring man who disliked publicity. He seldom made speeches, but as an engineer he enjoyed the reputation of standing at the head of his profession at least in this country.

For these reasons and because his office stood at the head of Dummer street, we feel that in simple justice to the memory of this great man, the Parkway should certainly be named after him in preference to Whistler, who has already been honored to the extent of having his birthplace set apart as the home of art.

There is not even an obscure avenue named after Mr. Francis, although his genius as an engineer shone fully as high, if not more so, as did that of Whistler as an artist.

PARKWAY EXTENSION

The extension of Dummer street has now brought up the question of extending the "Parkway" to Broadway. It would be a splendid idea, to be sure, but at this time, it would be an expenditure that is not demanded by public necessity. We are in favor of public improvements on a liberal scale, public parks and boulevards, but we believe the city should start with those demanded by public necessity. The Dummer street extension, we presume, will meet all public demands at the present time. Moreover, the expense is as much as the city should put out on Dummer street until other more pressing needs are attended to.

The extension of the proposed Parkway, call it what you will, may be dismissed without prejudice as it were. It can be attended to at any time in the future and preferably when the city has less of a rush in street work.

TO STAMP OUT VILLA

It is proposed that the United States troops shall unite with those of Carranza to exterminate Villa and his adherents. If the Carranza forces are willing to co-operate without any deception such as was shown when both undertook to pursue Villa some months ago, there would certainly be no objection on our part. It appears that Carranza is not sufficiently in control of the situation to do what he wishes or to prevent the Villistas from continuing their guerrilla warfare. Mexico will require the assistance of some outside power to accomplish this very laudable object. If it is to be done in the near future. The United States is now and has been willing to help it the leading authorities in Mexico show the right disposition.

DISINFECT SCHOOL ROOMS

In view of the apprehension of parents lest their children should catch any contagious disease by being brought in contact with others in the schools, it will be necessary for the authorities to take every possible precaution. It might be a good idea to have the board of health disinfect all the school rooms before the buildings are thrown open for the new school term. This should not be a very costly matter and in all probability it would prevent some diseases while it might help in warding off the dreaded infantile paralysis.

The republicans in Suffolk county are fighting hard against the appointment deal arranged for them by the democrats. They insist upon its overturn and are pleading with the courts to set it aside. Meantime the democrats in three other counties have lodged similar complaints against republican boards so that if the courts set aside the Suffolk county plan they will probably have to consider the others also. In this case quick work would be required if a special session of the legislature is contemplated in time to straighten out the difficulties before the state primaries.

The American Red Cross has sent out an appeal for additions to their hospital service for the army and navy. It appears that their resources have proved inadequate to meet the widespread demands upon the service. Hence, there is an opportunity for those who have special qualifications required in the medical departments of the army and navy in time of war.

That President Wilson should have signed the eight hour bill a second time will doubtless be regarded as double dyed infamy by our esteemed contemporary across the street. A man so progressive as President Wilson cannot be understood by republicans who have been in the habit of clinging to the statu quo.

Out in Reno, Nev., one Samuel Platt has been nominated for U. S. senator by the republicans. Should Mr. Platt be elected to the senate, there will be much curiosity as to whether he will develop anything approaching the political power and leadership as a boss shown by the late Senator Tom Platt of New York.

The republicans in congress, for some reason best known to themselves, are opposed to the passage of the Corrupt Practices bill. Very naturally, the party that has been in the habit of buying elections in close states would oppose any movement to limit expenditures in political campaigns.

Charles Sumner Bird, long ago recognized as of the migratory species, is now in the state of Maine, whooping it up for Hughes. There is some discussion as to whether he should be classed with the cuckoo or the magpie.

Claims Plant Juice Restored Her Health After All Others Failed

There are two sets of organs in the human body, the Plant Juice Man. The alimentary tract, including the liver, stomach and large and small intestines, the urinary tract, the kidneys and bladder. These two dominate the health of the entire body. Practically all diseases are due either directly or indirectly to their being disordered, and keeping them in perfect health certainly preserves perfect health.

MRS. M. P. BROWN

Many diseases attack these organs which promptly yield to the use of the new herbal preparations, Plant Juice. It is a compound of the mildest and most efficient of nature's remedies known to science, roots, herbs, barks and berries. Plant Juice is invaluable in relieving such conditions as are related by Mrs. M. P. Brown, who resides at 77 Tremont street, East Lynn, and is a well known and popular lady having many friends and acquaintances here. She stated:

"For years I have suffered with catarrh of the stomach and head, dyspepsia, indigestion and severe headaches and dizzy spells. My food would ferment in my stomach, causing gas and a terrible bloated condition. I was very nervous and restless and could not sleep at night. My feet and limbs were all swollen with rheumatism and I was in a terribly run-down condition. I have doctor with different doctors and tried all kinds of medicines, but got no benefit from any of them until I commenced to take Plant Juice. I have taken three bottles and I am feeling fine, have no more aches or pains. I found new life in every bottle of it. It has done me a lot of good and I will say that I am practically cured and will gladly recommend Plant Juice to everyone."

The Plant Juice Man is at Dow's, the Druggist, in Merrimack Square, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. On Saturday evening he will remain at the store until 10 p. m. to meet those who are unable to call during the day. Free samples given.

It Often Happens

A man who worked in the packing department of a large store recently tendered his resignation and accompanied it with the announcement that he was going into business for himself with another man.

"He and I," he explained, "will make a success of it. I will furnish the experience and he will supply the capital."

"How long do you expect that plan to succeed?" asked the foreman. "Oh, about five years," was the reply. "By that time I should have the capital and the other fellow the experience."—Exchange.

"Sandy" Macleod and his donkey were well known in the country which gave them birth, and the two were on friendly terms. "Sandy" would not have exchanged his "mud" for the best thoroughbred in the land.

Going out for a ride one day, he resolved to make his "mud" jump a stream. He applied the whip and the animal galloped to the edge of the bank, and then stopped so suddenly that "Sandy" was thrown to the other side of the water.

When he had sufficiently recovered from the shock he rose and looked the donkey in the face. "Werra weel pitched," he said, "but hoo are ye gawn tae get over yer-self?"

No Wireless Needed

Captain Sparks had just been placed in charge of the country fire station, and looked a very important personage as he conducted a visitor around the premises. This notwithstanding the fact that the engine resembled nothing so much as a secret roast potato oven joined to a village pump, and other unseemly looking appliances which were neither useful nor ornamental.

The visitor was duly impressed, but one thing puzzled him. "Why," he said, "you don't seem to have either a telegraph or telephone installation in the village. How do you summon your men when a fire breaks out?"

The captain was equal to the occasion. "Oh, that's simple enough," he replied. "We sends 'em all a postcard."

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 8.—Colonel John H. Sherburne of the First Massachusetts Field Artillery regiment yesterday sharply scored Adjutant-General Pearson of Massachusetts for sending three Bay State militia officers to the border to get a roster of the Massachusetts troops at the proposed special session of that body.

There has been considerable grumbling among the Bay State officers over the extra clerical work that the securing of information for which Adjutant-General Pearson has sent is entailing. Until Colonel Sherburne came out flouted with his criticism yesterday, this dissatisfaction has been expressed secretly.

Two of the three officers who came here to get the information which the Bay State adjutant-general's office seeks are Lieutenant James J. Powers of the 6th. The third officer is Lieutenant H. M. Rugg of the coast artillery corps. They are being assisted by Captains McCarthy and Lawless and Lieutenant Wise, the inspectors of small arms practice, who were legislated out of office by the new army bill, but who have been directed to remain here with the troops.

It is understood that the information in question is to be submitted to the Massachusetts legislature at the proposed special session of that body.

CAPT. JAMES N. GREIG
In Charge of Muster-Roll Checkers

scriptions of his men has been sent to the adjutant-general's office. If there was any doubt as to the accuracy of this, he said, the adjutant-general could have lists of the names of the Bay State men which are on file in his office sent to the various regiments. Then the company battery and troop commanders could check up these lists and send to the adjutant-general's office such corrections and additions as might be necessary.

This, he said, would have saved the commonwealth the expense of the trip of three officers across the country and much quicker results could be obtained. In addition to this, the units here would have been saved much time and trouble at a time when the attention of their men should be directed toward other work. He said that he could not see why the adjutant-general sent down three men to do this work, when but one man was sent down here to check up property, which is a much bigger job. The man checking up property is Captain Weedon.

Instead of being allowed to sleep all night on their train, the Massachusetts field hospital company number 2, Massachusetts ambulance company number 1 and the recruits for the Bay State units here, who arrived in El Paso Wednesday evening, were routed out last night and sent to the different camps.

Recruits Sleep Out
It was after 1 o'clock yesterday morning before many of the recruits got a place to sleep. Some slept in the open and got their border camp life initiation quick. Yesterday the recruits for the Second Massachusetts regiment, which is at Columbus, N. M., left here to join their regiment after spending the night in the Eight Regiment camp. Both of the newly arrived Bay State units have good camp sites in Camp Pershing.

Today, the Bay State cavalry squadron had another equipment inspection. The Massachusetts artillery regiment men are to be given target practice with their big guns next week. Colonel Sherburne is making plans for the organization of a football team in the regiment. A team of Harvard and ex-Harvard varsity men could be put in the field by this regiment. A committee has been appointed to arrange for polo matches for the artillery pony polo team. This committee is comprised of First Sergeant Tobey of a battery, Sergeant R. H. Hoag, Sergeant Lawrence H. Page, Sergeant Major H. Simpkins and Sergeant John Luscomb. A battery has a quartet which is to sing at an entertainment at the Fort Bliss hospital soon. This is made up of Paul Blacker, Dudley Hale, Philip Broughton and Frank Cousins.

Inasmuch as the Carter street school is close to the Butler school and that it contains both grammar and primary grades, Superintendent Molloy of the school department has deemed it advisable to hold the opening of that school on the same date as the Butler school, and this morning he announced that the Carter street school, both grammar and primary grades, will open Tuesday afternoon at the regular hour, and the pupils of that school are requested to present themselves at the opening of the school for medical examination.

BUILD UP YOUR BLOOD
It is a hopeless task to try to restore your health while your blood is deficient in quantity or quality.

The blood circulates throughout every portion of the body except the hair and nails. It takes the nourishment from the food and distributes it to the various muscles and organs; it takes also any medication that is administered through the month. The blood is the only means by which medicine can reach the nerves. If the blood is thin its carrying capacity is lessened because it is the red corpuscles in the blood that carry oxygen and other needed constituents to the various parts of the body.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People increase the red corpuscles in the blood. They enable it to absorb more oxygen, to carry more life and strength to the weakened organs. In any disease in which the patient becomes thin and pale, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be successfully used to combat the anemia and build up the health and strength.

"Build Up the Blood" is a booklet, full of good information. Every mother and every growing girl should have one. It is sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Price 60 cents.

GOVERNOR AND CONGRESSMAN ARE GUESTS

The guests at the semi-weekly outing of the Martin Luther club at the club's splendidly appointed grounds in Tyngsboro, yesterday, included Gov. McCall and Congressman Rogers.

The governor stopped for a little time in Lowell on his way back to Boston and it was learned that he feels the legislature should give authority and provide funds for the secretary of state and the members of the ballot law commission to go to the border and secure the votes of the soldiers.

The ballot law commission is made up of two democrats, Henry V. Cunningham of Boston and Charles F. Campbell of Worcester, and one republican, Francis W. Estey of Boston. In order to determine who at the front are voters and who are not the secretary of state's office would prepare lists in advance. By securing from the adjutant-general's office the names of all in the service and their home addresses verification could be made through the election commissioners in Boston and through the registrars of voters and city and town clerks in the different municipalities.

Armed with a certified list, the special election officers would announce upon their arrival at the front that the vote of a certain company would be held at a certain hour, and of the next at an hour following, and so on until the entire vote had been taken. In each instance the captain of the company would be required to identify the man as he cast his ballot.

Secretary of State Langtry had worked out a plan which he believes will enable the problem to be handled without any difficulty. He has given the matter much study and attention and feels that if the state is allowed reasonable time to do it the soldier vote may be thoroughly and satisfactorily canvassed.

BOARD OF TRADE
Members of Waterway Committee Will Confer With Congressman Rogers on Merrimack River Plan

In an effort to furnish the necessary additional information to Gen. Black and Col. Craghill regarding the improvement of the Merrimack river from Lowell to the sea Congressman John Jacob Rogers and the members of the waterway committee of the Lowell board of trade will hold a conference in the office of the board tomorrow noon. The conference was called at the suggestion of Congressmen Rogers who, together with Congressman Gardner and Phelan of Essex county, obtained an extension of the time allotted to submit the information. Its purpose will be to compile facts and other information to favor the project of improving the river.

Preliminary plans for a "Dress Up" week will be made at a meeting, of the mercantile committee of the Lowell board of trade to be held tomorrow forenoon at 10 o'clock. It is probable that Lowell will soon have another week similar to the one held a few months ago.

The executive committee of the board will hold an important meeting Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The monthly meetings of the board of directors will be resumed next Tuesday when the first session will be held at 6 o'clock.

GUILDY OF ARSON ATTEMPT
FITCHBURG, Sept. 8.—Benjamin Radin and Harry Brodeur of Worcester were found guilty yesterday by a jury of attempting to burn a building owned by Abraham Israel, Water street, Worcester.

They are garment manufacturers, and have a shop on the third floor of the building. The government alleged that the men placed candles in their shop and surrounded them with cloth and boxes so that they would start a fire when the candles had burned to the end.

YOUNG MAN'S PLAY MAY CAUSE DEATH OF BABY
BOSTON, Sept. 8.—Three-year-old Bernard Gillen is at the city hospital in a serious condition as the result of being tossed about by a young man who happened along in front of the child's home at 38 Norfolk avenue, Roxbury, about 9 o'clock last evening, and took a liking to the little one.

The men, who is unknown, according to neighbors, was raising the child from the sidewalk to his shoulder time after time, when suddenly the little boy slipped from the man's grasp and fell to the brick sidewalk, striking on his head. In the excitement that followed the man walked away.

Sarah Gillen, the mother of the baby, carried the child to police station 9 on Dudley street, where Lieut. Henry J. Watkins summoned Dr. T. J. Murphy.

The doctor said the child suffered from a fracture of the skull and ordered his removal to the hospital. Lieut. Watkins assigned Sergt. Lyons to the case, and Patrolmen Ryan and Andrews are making an effort to locate the man who was playing with the child at the time of the accident.

ABSOLUTE SALE AT PUBLIC AUCTION OF A 4-TENEMENT HOUSE AND ABOUT 2136 SQ. FEET OF LAND AT NO. 14 MIDDLE STREET COURT, OFF LAWRENCE STREET

TOMORROW, SEPT. 9th, 1916, at 3 P. M.

I have been instructed to offer at absolute auction sale, this extremely well paying parcel of real estate. The property consists of a 2 1/2 story building, about 2136 sq. ft. of land, with four nice tenements of 3 and 4 rooms to each, all rented, to four good tenants, and bringing in $250 per year. The location is one of the very best in Lowell for property of this kind, handy to all the mills and factories, only a short distance from Merrimack Sq., and just off the Lawrence street car line, thereby assuring the owner of a steady rental.

This will be the first sale this year of a piece of property of its kind, owners seldom. If ever, place property of this nature on the market as it will show a return of between 30 and 50 per cent, not on your investment. Look this up as this sale presents an excellent chance for a party with a small amount of money to buy a four tenement block. Terms, $150.00 must be paid to the auctioneer just as soon as the property is struck off, a very liberal mortgage can remain at 5 per cent.

W. E. GUYETTE, in charge.

CONGRESS ADJOURNED SINE DIE

JUDGE HADLEY OBJECTS TO "WHISTLER PARKWAY"

Would Call the Dummer Street Extension "Francis Parkway" in Honor of James Francis

Hon. Samuel P. Hadley, former judge of the local police court, appeared before the municipal council at a special meeting held this morning and objected strenuously to the proposed name, "Whistler Parkway" for the Dummer street extension, and recommended that the thoroughfare be named "Francis Parkway" as a memorial to the late James Francis, a hydraulic engineer of wide reputation, a man who once saved the city of Lowell from a disastrous flood and one under whose supervision most of the water wheels in the local mills were installed. In the course of his argument, Mr. Hadley compared the character of both men, and said Whistler denied he was born here and claimed St. Petersburg, Russia, as his birthplace.

The meeting was called for the purpose of drawing 16 jurors for the criminal session of the superior court, which will be held at Cambridge, beginning Monday, Sept. 18, and during which the Roper murder trial will be held.

THE GRAND JURY REPORTED TODAY IN THIS CITY

The Middlesex county grand jury which held a session in the local court house Tuesday reported before Judge Stevens in the same place this forenoon. Indictments were returned in four cases and all the defendants were arraigned and asked to enter pleas.

Henry Beaudry was unable to understand the meaning of an indictment returned against him for a statutory offence and a plea of not guilty was entered until Monday, when an interpreter will be used. Alcega Sorvia, who was arrested with Beaudry, pleaded guilty.

Ernest E. Millett pleaded guilty to two indictments. One charged him with passing a forged check for $22.55 payable to E. P. Millette and bearing the signature of Davis & Sargent and the endorsement of Joseph Cayouette on August 5th last. The second indictment accused him of passing a forged check for $9.05 on Stephen Rochette.

A plea of not guilty was taken on the indictment charging Joseph Santos with assault upon Flora Godin. George Parker pleaded guilty to breaking and entering on August 31 the store of Michael Demogheue with intent to commit larceny.

No sentences were imposed by Judge Stevens today. After the aforementioned indictments had been returned a recess was taken and the grand jury was ordered to report to East Cambridge to return the findings in the cases from that vicinity.

The September session of the criminal court will open in the local court house next Monday morning at 10 o'clock when both appeals and grand jury cases will be considered. Judge Stevens will preside.

An indictment was returned against Katherine Netas, charged with polygamy, but she was not arraigned.

There are many people who buy goods who have "ideas." They have reasons that have prompted these ideas—some cause that leads them to request having things according to their own notion.

We consider that such buyers are not unreasonable in their demands. Their money pays the bills, so why shouldn't they have what they want? We like to consider our customers and sell them just what they want, in fact, to invariably please the particular persons—the ones whose goods must be "just so."

ONE OF GREATEST SESSIONS IN HISTORY OF COUNTRY

64th Congress' First Session Which Began in December Adjourned Today—Appropriations of Two Billion Authorized—The Legislation Passed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Congress adjourned sine die this morning at 10 o'clock, concluding a session, record breaking in many aspects, with appropriations and authorizations for the future running well toward two billion dollars.

In a statement issued following the adjournment of congress, President Wilson called attention to the "helpful and humane legislation" passed, and declared that while he regretted additional legislation dealing with the recent dispute between the railroads and their employees had not been completed, he had every reason to believe the question would be taken up immediately after congress reassembled.

Pres. Wilson's Statement
The president's statement follows:
"A very remarkable session of congress has just closed, full, as all recent sessions of the congress have been, of helpful and humane legislation which constitutes contributions of capital importance to the defense, the economic progress and the wholesome life of the country."

"It is to be regretted that the session could not have continued long enough to complete the program recently projected with regard to the accommodation of labor disputes between the railroads and the employees, but it was not feasible in the circumstances to continue the session any longer and therefore, only the most immediately pressing parts of the program could be completed."

"The rest, it is agreed, has merely been postponed until it can be more maturely deliberated, and perfected. I have every reason to believe that it is the purpose of the leaders of the two houses immediately upon the reassembling of congress to undertake this additional legislation."

GREAT BATTLE BEGINS IN SOUTHEASTERN RUMANIA

Russians Said to Have Taken Offensive Over Entire Dobrudja Front, Attacking Invading Bulgarians and Germans—French Resist Germans

The beginning of a great battle in southeastern Rumania is reported unofficially from Petrograd. The Russians are said to have taken the offensive over the entire Dobrudja front, attacking the invading Bulgarians and Germans from the Danube to the Black sea.

Bulgars Report Victories
An undated Bulgarian official report announces important victories for the invaders in this region. It is said the German and Bulgarian forces have captured the fortified town of Dobrich or Bazarjik, 50 miles southeast of Bucharest, and three towns on the Rumanian Black sea coast near the Bulgarian frontier.

Important Move by Russians
The official Petrograd report of today indicates that the Russians may have embarked on an important enterprise on the northern end of their front. It was announced yesterday that Russians had crossed the Dvina north of Dvinsk and occupied part of a German position, but it appeared at that time that only a small force was involved, perhaps for reconnoitering purposes. The announcement of today, however, shows that these forces were of sufficient size to engage in sustained fighting with the Germans whose repeated attempts to dislodge them are said to have been unsuccessful.

Tentons in Retreat
On the front below Lemberg, in eastern Galicia, a further retreat by the Austro-German forces is reported by the Russian war office. They are said to have fallen back to the western bank of the Gnila Lipa, the last river before Lemberg to the south which is available for defensive purposes.

French Resist Attacks
German troops along the Somme front last night made repeated efforts to take back ground won by the French in their latest advance south of the river. The struggle through the night over the ground, between Berny and Chaulnes was marked with unusual violence. Paris announces officially that the assaults of the Germans availed them nothing and that the French everywhere held their ground.

On the Verdun Front
On the Verdun front also the French troops were subjected to an unsuccessful counter attack with the object of reconquering German first line positions over a front of nearly a mile northeast of Verdun which the French took yesterday, the official French report says.

British Raid German Trenches
The British troops on the Somme front were comparatively inactive. Further north, near Cunechy the British raided German trenches, and, an official announcement from London says, inflicted severe losses on the occupants of these positions.

Defeat of Rumanians
An official Bulgarian statement of Sept. 4, dealing with the earlier phases of the invasion of eastern Rumania, tells of the defeat of the Rumanians in two engagements and reports a successful Bulgarian advance along the Rumanian Black sea coast.

Heavy Fighting
On the Italian front in the Sugana valley, there was heavy fighting Wednesday night in consequence of an Austrian attack on the Italian positions at Giaron. The Italian war office announces that the attacks were defeated.

BERLIN REPORTS FRENCH REPULSED WITH GREAT LOSSES ALONG SOMME
BERLIN, Sept. 8, via London, 4:20 p. m.—French and German troops were again engaged in infantry fighting yesterday in the region south of the river Somme, in France, says the official statement issued today by the German army headquarters staff. The French were repulsed with great losses with the exception of a point to the west of Berny, where the state-

OFFICIALS SAY NEW YORK'S STRIKE BROKEN

Unions Claim 7500 Strike—Shots Fired at L Train—King of the Strike Breakers Arrives

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—With subway and elevated trains being operated apparently on normal schedule, traction officials insisted today that New York's strike had been broken. Fifty per cent of the "Green cars" of the New York Railway Co.'s surface system were running, the company announced.

Union leaders, on the other hand, claimed at noon that 3500 men were on strike on the subway and elevated roads of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co., and 4000 men on the "Green car" system.

Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Interborough, announced that all of the men who have struck on the New York railways lines owned by the Interborough, could have their positions back, with their former places of seniority restored to them, if they resigned from the union by 1 p. m., tomorrow.

KING OF STRIKEBREAKERS
NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Having frustrated the efforts of its striking employees to tie up the subway and elevated railways, the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. today turned its attention to its surface lines which have been crippled since the strike was declared Wednesday night. All cars on the so-called "Green" lines representing the greater part of the surface system in Manhattan and the Bronx were withdrawn at 5 o'clock last night after maintaining during the day a service barely 20 per cent of normal.

Shots Fired at Trains
A number of elevated trains were attacked during the early morning, but in no case was there any approach to a mob riot. Strike sympathizers on the roofs of tenement houses, bombarded the trains with bottles and bricks and in one instance with pistol shots. None of the bullets took effect, but several passengers were cut by missiles and broken glass.

MAN ATTACKED IN HOTEL BY VICIOUS CAT

There was something happened a diner in a local hotel a few days ago that he will remember till his dying day and other diners who witnessed it will not forget it in a hurry. A cat was at the bottom of the trouble and mention of a more vicious feline is not made in history elsewhere.

The cat had little baby kittens in a place not far removed from the dining room and a few days previous a dog had gone so near her little home that she became almost frantic with rage. The dog was taken out, but the cat could not be reconciled and even the bark of a dog in the street made her wild.

Well, anyway, the man was eating at a table with four other men when a bone stuck in his throat. He stooped his head and coughed. The cat was not far away and the sound of the cough inflamed her. She sprang at the man just as he raised his head, and landed squarely in his face, biting and scratching. The man grabbed her and threw her to the floor. She did not attempt a second attack, but scurried back to her kittens, feeling, perhaps, that she had done only a mother's duty in protecting her little ones.

The man's face was badly torn and it was stated that the cat bit him through the lip. It seems that hotels insure against almost all kinds of accidents and the company having such insurance on this particular hotel has settled with the unfortunate victim of the cat's rage.

HEAT PROSTRATION
An unknown man, about 35 years of age, was found in an unconscious condition on the South common shortly before noon today. The ambulance was summoned and the man was taken to St. John's hospital. It is thought that the man was overcome by the heat.

At the time of going to press this afternoon the identity of the man was not known for he was still unconscious. A letter found on his person was addressed to Boreo Frank, 26 Union street, Lowell, Mass. U.S.A., having been mailed from Italy.

ARTIST GETS SIX MONTHS TO PROVE HIS SANITY

RALPH ALBERT BLAKELOCK WAS HELD SEVENTEEN YEARS AS INSANE

ARTIST BLAKELOCK

Seated at a piano in a bungalow studio built for him at West Englewood, N. J., Ralph Albert Blakelock, the landscape artist whom fame found long after he had quit painting and had been sent to an insane asylum seventeen years ago, told his liberators that he would paint himself back to freedom. Softly touching the keys to accompany his words, he gave a picture of what he hoped to do despite his seventy years. Blakelock was brought from the State Hospital for the Insane at Middletown, N. Y., by Mrs. Van Rensselaer Adams, of Orange, N. Y., to Lynwood Lodge, a private sanatorium. Mrs. Adams, who with other admirers of Blakelock's art had arranged for his release from Middletown on a six months' parole, went to the institution with a writ from the supreme court ordering that Blakelock be placed in her care. Blakelock hopes to paint such a picture as he believes is expected of him because of his election to the National Academy of Design last year. It is probable that landscape along the Hudson will be his subject. A fund of $10,000 has been raised for the painter. If he makes the picture such as he used to make he will soon be able to repay his benefactors. It was when he peddled his pictures in the autumn of 1898, in an effort to support his family that he lost his mind. The career of Blakelock has been one of the tragedies of American art. He was born in New York in 1847. He never attended an art school, but studied alone and gave play to his talent. His first fame came from Indian canyons, but his landscapes won him lasting place.

Distinctly ultra is this arrangement of the all-stirring belt. Please observe how smart is the checked fabric, green and white silk, with plain green border and collar. Another fall frock is to be sweeter and more in the back.

URGES BULL MOOSE TO VOTE FOR PRES. WILSON

HALE SAYS THE PROGRESSIVES HAVE RESPONSIBILITY IN COMING ELECTION

DOVER, Me., Sept. 8.—Maine progressives were urged by Matthew Hale, acting chairman of the progressive national committee, in an address here last night, to help secure the re-election of President Wilson by voting the democratic ticket at the state election next Monday.

"We have no candidate of our own, thanks to the treachery of our national leaders to whom we had trusted our interests," he said. "We have, however, a great responsibility toward the whole progressive movement in this coming election; for the result of the election in November, as is conceded by both democratic and republican leaders, depends on the progressive vote. We now have it in our power to re-elect Mr. Wilson or elect Mr. Hughes. How shall we exercise that power?

"Some tell us that this is no longer an open question, because our vote has already been delivered to Mr. Hughes. This is not true, because the progressive men and women of this country are not the kind whose vote can be delivered by a small group of political bosses and Wall street capitalists acting together to defeat the wishes of the rank and file of the party, as made manifest by the progressive national convention last June and by the action of many state organizations since then.

"The progressive vote is not going to be delivered to Mr. Wilson or Mr. Hughes; the progressive vote is not going to be given like sheep into the hands of their republican or democratic corral;

the progressive voters are going to make up their minds as patriotic, thoughtful American citizens, and are going to cast their vote as individuals for Mr. Wilson or Mr. Hughes in accordance to the dictates of their consciences and their reason. And it is to your conscience and to your reason that I wish to appeal tonight."

Mr. Hale then discussed the qualifications of both candidates and their views on questions of vital interest to the country.

TO RESUME DRILLING

Three Local Companies of Sixth Regiment Will Begin Winter Schedule on Sept. 18

Drilling will be resumed by Companies C, G and K of the Sixth regiment in the Westford street armory the week of the 18th of September, after a brief vacation period. The three companies, which went to camp on the sixth of August and remained for nearly two weeks, have not drilled since that time, but maneuvers will again be resumed on regular drill nights after Sept. 18.

There is considerable work to be done at the armory preparatory to the fall season following the summer vacation. Capt. Walter R. Hayes, the armorer, and his assistants are now busy cleaning up the regiment's equipment after the encampment and they are also putting things in shape inside the armory so that the companies' quarters will be ready for them when the drilling begins.

NOE DAUNAIS MISSING

Noe Daunais, father of 10 children, residing at 14 Sparks street, has been missing since Wednesday evening and his wife and children are very anxious to hear from him. Mr. Daunais, who is reputed to be a very industrious and sober man, was employed in a local shoe shop and despite the fact that he has reared a large family, he managed by thrift and hard work to build a comfortable home for those depending on him.

Last Wednesday Mr. Daunais worked all day, but did not report at his home for supper, and not one word as to his whereabouts has been received by the family since. Mrs. Daunais, who has reported the matter to the police, fears her husband has met with foul play, for she sees no reason why he should abandon his ten children, who have always been the pride of his life.

LOWELL BOYS ON NAVAL CRUISE ARE HAPPY

Following is a second letter from Jos. P. Quinn of The Sun staff, on the naval cruise aboard the U. S. S. Virginia. Mr. Quinn tells of many incidents of the cruise, particularly those in which some of the boys from Lowell and vicinity figured. The letter:

U. S. S. VIRGINIA, Block Island, R. I., Sept. 4.—A month ago we were just ordinary landlubbers. Some of us had become acquainted with the sea as passengers on an ocean steamer, half a dozen had taken the boat to Portland or New York—from Boston—and several had qualified as navigators in a canoe on the Concord or the Merrimack. Through the dime novels of our childhood and later literature of the sea, we had a smattering of sea phrases, but when confronted with the real thing we were as children, ignorant, shamefaced and very blundering. We saluted everyone on the ship who had a different sort of cap, we peeped down hatches in admiring wonder, we stood aloof and watched the regulars at their various duties and the wisest among us observed a lot and said very little. A few of the Lowell contingent tried to put something over on their fellows, but when a boatswain's mate or a deck hand fixed them with his inquisitive eye they fell in line with the rest of the rookies. Bluffing was out of the question. We were green as grass and we were playing at being sailors on a seven million dollar battleship where one might stay all his life and learn new marvels every day.

And now? We hate to talk about ourselves, but before two weeks have passed, twenty salty sailormen from the battleship Virginia will be back in Lowell, each with his honorable discharge from the naval service of Uncle Sam. This certificate of service is given as a "testimonial of fidelity and patriotism" and will be signed by Captain Jackson, commander of the Virginia. To be sure, nobody could win such distinction who has not given good service, so our reputation as naval experts is assured for ever and aye. We may be confronted now and then with the scorn of the scoffer or the mumm of the envious, but we shall also superior to occasion and say "Lay off mate and cast your running lights on this ticket."

The Great Battle

The war maneuvers actually started on Aug. 22, but preparations were going on for some days previous. The reserve fleet had been divided into offensive and defensive squadrons, otherwise known respectively as the "Reds" and the "Blues." The Virginia was one of the defensive battleships, and the war game was talked up in formal lectures and in informal conversations with the officers until the civilians of Lowell and Boston thought they were really defending the Atlantic coast against attack. For four days there was an air of mystery throughout the ship, everybody in authority looking as though he knew a lot and could not tell anything. Our scout cruisers kept track of the blue fleet and we knew where it was located until one misty day, when we lost track of it. Meantime the gun drills were being held every morning and each man knew automatically where his battle station would be in actual conflict. One evening we were gathered for a social time on the forecabin deck, when the torpedo defense drill was given and we were obliged to rush to our quarters and act as though we were menaced by a U-boat of the enemy. Fire drills, collision drills and guard duties were also held and the officers and crew were kept most of us on the alert except during the very few hours that we swung in our hammocks. For almost six days we were out of sight of land and eager to get at the enemy. At last—it was on the afternoon of Aug. 27—one of our destroyers appeared on the horizon and steamed up at full speed. She sent a boat to the Virginia and reported that the enemy was in our vicinity and that we would come face to face with them in a short time. The Virginia was made ready for actual battle and we waited for the foe. The night before the battle the ship was darkened and we manned the guns and took stations. There was a funny side to the situation as the men tried to find their hammocks when the order to turn in was given, and there was much skilled juggling as they collided in the dark or ran off with the wrong hammock.

Next morning there was nothing to indicate the excitement of the night before. We had not sighted the enemy and we were still alive and defending the country against a supposedly foreign foe. We were, appropriately enough, having battle practice next day when the enemy was sighted on the horizon. He was off the starboard bow and at a considerable distance. Recalling the enthusiasm of the preceding evening it was hard to keep attention, and most of us managed to sneak out on the starboard deck to face the foe. One by one his dozen large battleships passed in line formation and his guns boomed either a broadside or salute. Soon the sea was calm and untroubled as before and we held unchallenged sway as our ships ploughed on towards the south.

We lost the battle and the Virginia was either captured or sunk. It seemed too bad to die without a struggle in the tower of our youth, but we went down like true sons of Lowell. Some time when the new high school is built, when Pawtucketville bridge is completed and when we have a public hall, we shall petition for a commemorative monument at the Draught Navy Yard with the names of the 26 good men and true who stood by their guns and went down on the U. S. S. Virginia on Aug. 27, 1916. One man does not deserve to have his name on the tablet but it is just as well to let him slide in with the bunch of heroes, like many a phoney hero of history.

At Old Point Comfort

Now that we are in our watery graves theoretically, let us proceed to what we did, actually. We headed straight for Hampton Roads, Va. for target practice. Nobody will blame us for hanging a little for the life of the shore, especially when the ship was so splendid and the boys so beautiful and the girls in pink and blue and yellow. Really the eternal blue of the sea and the glancing white of 300 spotless uniforms get monotonous and shore leave puts a little color into the life of the sailor. This word "color" must not be connected with Virginia in any but an artistic sense, by the way, and the shore leave was a good deal of color—of, rather, atmosphere. Lowell tourists who have touched at Norfolk know that Fort Monroe is rather fashionable, with the fine Hotel Chamberlain and other pleasure places. A mile or so away is the town of Phoebus, which is Virginian indeed, but which by no means lacks in the modern conveniences of a fashionable town. We went to Phoebus. Shore leave was on Sunday afternoon and was for slightly over two hours—so naturally all the sailormen from Lowell and everywhere else were on hand when the return tug steamed towards the dock.

Target Practice

Target practice was the great event—and some of us will have the snowfall of time in our hair before we forget it. For two weeks we were having daily drill in battle practice and battery. There are three divisions of volunteers and each division has had several cruises. The last one had been a target practice and finally there were elimination tests and finally 12 crews were chosen—one for each 3-inch gun. Several Lowell boys had places in the gun crews, and many of us had expelling and exciting duties. Wallace Butterfield was on the voice tube for the gun No. 1. His duty was to repeat the orders of the spotting officer to each gun crew. It was a very important place but he was equal to it in his smiling imperturbable way. He was a safe distance from the loading and firing of the shells, and that helped him to keep cool.

Joe Payne was on the voice tube for another gun, but once when they wanted him he could not be found, so they put on a substitute. Opinions vary as to where Joseph was, but the consensus of opinion is that he was asleep somewhere down near the double bottoms or looking for something sweet in the canteen. Being superlatively brave, Joseph is now very sorry that he had no station in the gun drill, but he says about the same thing of the deck scrubbing that he ducked after the first week. When Joe tells his tales of the briny deep after his return to school, it will be wise for his auditors to refer the story to the confirmatory committee of the Lowell group.

W. M. Holman was gun captain of gun No. 8. He has been one of the most efficient squad leaders of the civilians and his gun crew was one of the three that made four hits out of five shots. Mr. Holman has had very little trouble with his men but he has found it hard to keep awake sunny afternoons after a strenuous drill.

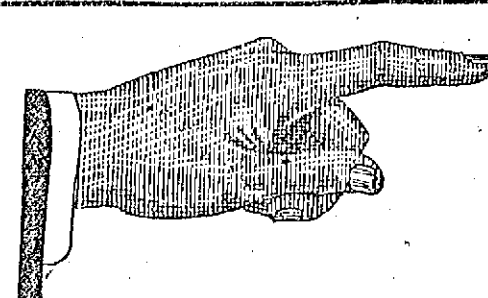

James P. O'Shea and M. E. O'Brien were first and second shellmen, respectively on gun No. 4, which managed to get three hits. They were fortunate in having a captain who knew how to get results and who kept the right spirit in his crew. Mr. O'Brien is having a great time, but he will not admit that one can have as good a time in Phoebus as in Block Island.

Edward Welch was first trainer on gun No. 5. The trainer has a great deal to do with keeping the gun straight on the target and Eddie did his part in obtaining the three hits of this crew. He has the knack of keeping cool in target practice where coolness is as essential as it is rare.

James O'Dea was third shellman on No. 2, and he admits that he was worried up over the job. The third shellman has to work quickly and to think a little more so, but Jim was game to the finish. The only sad part of the story is that No. 2 did not get any hit—but then the third shellman has nothing to do with target practice, so it is not his fault. Frederick Marshall had a similar position on gun No. 11, which made three hits. When he hears about it Jimmy O'Dea reminds him that if their positions were reversed so should the scores. Marshall has developed into a considerable wit, the sea air being a wonderful asset for him. When it gets to a brain already brilliant the effect is wonderful—and Marshall has been mistaken in the dark for one of the searchlights, so bright have been his remarks.

Sherman Blair was third shellman on No. 12 which got four hits. One day during practice he was acting as a shellman when a boat of danger danger is faster than pie to Sherman and he felt crestfallen when No. 12 got back on the job. However, our Lowell civilian has the distinction of being on one of the record-making crews.

TWO WOMEN AND CHILD CAUGHT ON R. R. BRIDGE

ONE WOMAN CLUNG TO EDGE AND ALLOWED LOCOMOTIVE TO PASS HER WITHIN A FEW INCHES

TILTON, N. H., Sept. 8.—Two women and a child were crossing the long steel bridge over the Winnepesaukee river east of this village yesterday afternoon when the 2:17 Boston express came around the bend at probably 40 miles an hour.

The younger woman and child reached the end of the bridge, but the elderly woman was unable to, and, seeing she was caught, she lay down as near the edge as possible and allowed the locomotive to pass her within a few inches. The engineer applied the emergency brakes, but was unable to stop his train before it reached the woman. She was picked up by willing hands of the railroad men and taken to safety, where it was found she suffered only a nervous shock.

KING GEORGE V WATCHING PRINCE OF WALES EXAMINE CAPTURED TRENCH

KING AND QUEEN OF THE BELGIANS AT FRONT

The recent visit of King George V to the Somme front in France was marked by incidents which will become historic.

It will be recalled that nothing was known of his visit to the general public of any country until after the king got safely back to England. It has now been learned that the Prince of Wales guided the king on the battlefields and in the picture the prince is seen in a captured German trench, while the king and his officers are watching him from level ground. Lord Stamfordham, Sir Derek Kenel, Lieutenant Colonel C. Wigram and Major Thompson are with him. Before he left for England he presented medals to heroes of the Belgian forces which co-operated in the recent British offensive. King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians were witnesses to this ceremony and in the lower photograph are seen looking on while their son in the boy scout uniform is standing behind them standing with the Prince of Wales.

MALDEN YOUNG MAN WOMEN AND CHILDREN THE MEXICAN-AMERICAN JUMPED OVERBOARD KILLED IN AIR RAIDS JOINT COMMISSION

FEARING ARREST FOR DISTURBANCE ON STEAMER, HE PLUNGED TO HIS DEATH

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—Fearing arrest for causing a disturbance on the steamer from Boston, according to the police, Robert Callahan of Malden, Mass., jumped from the steamer at the dock here early today and was drowned. He was 22 years of age and son of a prominent city official of Malden.

IRISH ATHLETE KILLED

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—Information that Michael Donovan, a prominent Irish athlete, has died in a Boulogne hospital France, from gunshot wounds in the head, yesterday reached many of his friends in Boston. Donovan was wounded while in action on the French front, where the Canadian contingent distinguished itself.

Private Donovan who was 24 years of age and was a native of Bandon County Cork, was employed by the Cummings Woolen company, of Worcester, at the outbreak of the war. He joined at Ottawa, Canada, the famous Canadian regiment, the Princess Patricia's Light Infantry. He went to France in January, 1915 and saw active service with his regiment up to the time of his death.

Private Donovan was a famed athlete in Ireland and was considered a crack shot with the rifle. He is survived by his mother and two brothers in England and France, by a brother, James Donovan of Wellington road, Bedford and two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Harris of Auburn, and Mrs. William Finn of East Cambridge.

B. & M. RECEIVERSHIP

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—The directors of the Boston & Maine railroad issued yesterday their first statement in defense of their course approving a receivership for the road. The defense was contained in a letter sent out to the stockholders, who are called to meet on Sept. 19 for a discussion of the receivership situation.

The statement says that approval of a receivership was given only after it appeared certain to the directors that permanent relief from the B. & M. financial difficulties could not be brought about by a friendly reorganization on any fair basis, that the road could not meet its obligations in the form of notes maturing on Aug. 31, and that further extension of the notes without reasonable hope of a friendly reorganization that would take care of them permanently, could accomplish no good end.

COAL DEALERS WILL NOT BID

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—A 17,000 ton contract to supply the city institutions with soft coal is without a bidder. Local dealers, because of uncertain transportation facilities and other conditions, refuse and have refused for several weeks to make new contracts. Mayor Curley consulted representatives of two of the largest local dealers yesterday in an effort to get them to help the city out of its difficulty. He will advertise for new bids tomorrow to close Sept. 11.

BERLIN REPORTS OVER 1000 CIVILIANS KILLED BY ALLIED AEROPLANES

BERLIN, Sept. 8.—(By wireless to Sayville.)—In the month of August, the Overseas News agency announces 31 men, 27 women and 17 children, all civilians, were killed in the occupied districts of France and Belgium as a result of artillery and aeroplane bombardments by the entente allies. Fifty-two men, 98 women and 29 children were wounded. The total number of deaths due to these causes since September of 1915, the news agency says is 1952.

TWO STUDENT AVIATORS HURLED TO THE GROUND

BIPLANE FLYING 750 FEET OVER GOVERNOR'S ISLAND BECAME UNMANAGEABLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Flying at a height of between 600 and 700 feet over Governor's Island today a biplane containing J. Walter W. Strathairn and Charles D. Wiman, student aviators in training for the aero reserve corps authorized recently by President Wilson, became unmanageable for some unknown reason and fell to the ground. Each aviator had one leg broken and received cuts on the head and was possibly internally injured. Both are expected to recover. They were two of eleven pupils in training at Governor's Island and it was stated that this was the first serious accident in 1100 flights by members of this zero corps. Strathairn and Wiman, the latter a member of a former Yale crew were regarded as advanced pupils.

RÉSUMPTION OF CONFERENCES — MEXICANS TO REQUEST WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 8.—At the resumption here today of the conference of the Mexican-American joint commission seeking a permanent settlement of the international difficulties, it was regarded as probable that before this afternoon's deliberations were concluded, the Mexican delegates would make a formal request for the withdrawal of General Pershing's punitive expedition from Mexican territory. Papers bearing directly upon this phase of the situation were studied here yesterday by the American commissioners. Ideas relative to the maintenance of order along the border were exchanged today. With Franklin K. Lane, heading the American delegation, presiding, the representatives of the two governments engaged in discussion which it was expected would result in progress looking toward a better understanding of the objects in view.

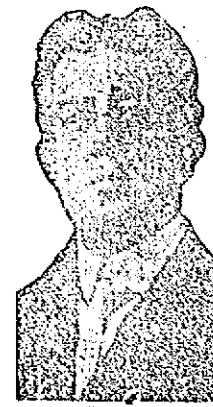

PRINCIPAL FARM CROPS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Production of the principal farm crops of the country were forecast today by the department of agriculture from their September condition, or at time of harvest as follows:
(Figures in millions of bushels.)
Spring wheat 155.
All wheat 611.
Corn 219.

FOR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—The two western players, Chick Evans and Robert A. Gardner, finished the forenoon round today 3 and 4 up on their respective opponents, for the national amateur golf championship. Corkran of Baltimore and Jessa Gullford, the Massachusetts champion.

Both Evans and Corkran showed a propensity for driving in water and traps in their round but in several cases followed with brilliant recoveries. The putting as a rule was mediocre, the playing having a tendency to overrun the cup on the hard, fast greens. The gallery was rather slim after the throngs that followed the Gardner-Jones match of yesterday.

WILLIAMS' TENNIS COMEBACK, IN BEATING JOHNSTON, HAS UPSET THE EXPERTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The old adage that a dethroned athletic champion never scores a comeback was given a severe jolt when R. Norris Williams, 24, recaptured his title of national lawn tennis champion of the United States by defeating William M. Johnston in the title match on the west side tennis courts at Forest Hills, N. Y. Not only did Williams give the experts of the game one of the saddest setbacks of recent years, but he displayed to the general sporting public that in him was embodied all of the requirements of a national champion. In the face of adverse criticism the former Harvard tennis leader played a quality of game that has seldom before been witnessed on any tennis court. McLaughlin in his prime days never played with any more dash or generalship than did Williams in this memorable match. Against him was pitted the brainiest player of the tennis world. William M. Johnston is without doubt the craftiest weilder of the tennis racket of the present day. In fact, many class him as the wisest of all time. The California champion employed every method known to his fertile tennis brain to outmaneuver Williams. All of his efforts brought forth fruit. The present title holder was master of his craft. California rival and defeated him because of his ability to put forth a better brand of tennis. Williams' feat of scoring a comeback on the tennis map will do much to increase interest in the game. Many experts were of the opinion that the national title holder of 1914 had tackled too hard a job when he essayed to win back his national honors in this season's tournament. Upper photo shows Williams and Johnston playing the last set of their recent match. Lower picture Williams, on left, shaking hands with Johnston after the match.

LOWELL BOY SOLDIER TOOK FRENCH LEAVE

Mrs. Fred Guyette, who formerly resided at 57 Ford street is wanted at the local office of Congressman Rogers in the Hildreth building, where a postal money order to the amount of $12 awaits her. The money is not a gift from anyone, but simply a refund on the part of the Canadian government. Sometime ago Mrs. Guyette, whose son, Andrew W., was in the Canadian volunteer army, was requested to send $12 for the release of her son, who is a minor, the money to be used for transportation to Lowell. It seems, however, after the money was sent that the young man had left the army.

Andrew W. Guyette several months ago disappeared mysteriously from this city and a week or so later his mother received a letter from him, dated somewhere in Canada, to the effect that he had enlisted in the Canadian army. He informed his mother that he had been hired in Merrimack street, this city, to go to Canada to work, but at that time there was no mention of enlisting in the army. When he reached his destination, he claims he was forced to enlist in the army, with the result that he became a member of the 139th Volunteer battalion. He did not care for military life and he urged his mother to do all in her power to obtain his discharge.

Mrs. Guyette took the matter up with Congressman Rogers, who in turn communicated with Robert Lansing, secretary of state at Washington and with the American consul general in Ottawa, Ont. Sometime ago the Canadian authorities notified the congressman that the boy's release could not be obtained unless he had $12 in his possession and accordingly Mrs. Guyette sent the money to Canada through the congressman.

A few days ago Congressman Rogers was the recipient of a money order amounting to $12, with instructions to remit the order to Mrs. Guyette. The money was accompanied by a note stating that Andrew W. Guyette's name had been struck off the roster of the 139th battalion as a deserter, to take effect July 26. Xavier Delisle, secretary to the congressman has done all in his power to locate Mrs. Guyette, but his efforts have been fruitless. It is believed, however, that the woman is still a resident of this city, and she may receive the money order by presenting herself at the office of Congressman Rogers.

LATE WAR NEWS

made by the Germans on the Somme front last night in an effort to regain ground won by the French. The war office announced today that the German assaults were futile, the French holding their ground everywhere.

The German attacks were made in strong force on the front between Berry and Chauhous, south of the Somme. The fighting was especially heavy between Verdunovillers and Cautines. The Germans preceded their infantry assaults with intense bombardments. The Germans also made an effort to regain the ground won by the French yesterday on the Verdun front between Vaux Chapitree wood and Chenois, where nearly a mile of the German first line positions were carried. The official report says the German onslaughts were unsuccessful.

RUSSIAN AEROPLANES ATTACK GERMAN POSITIONS IN COURLAND

BERLIN, Sept. 8. (By wireless to Sayville.)—An official statement issued by the German war department says that several Russian aeroplanes attacked with bombs German positions in Courland, but without success. German anti-aircraft guns forced one hostile biplane to land and the occupants of the machine were made prisoners.

SUCCESS FOR INVADERS OF MANIA IS REPORTED

LONDON, Sept. 8, 3:45 p. m.—An undated official Bulgarian report received here today says that the Bulgarian and German forces which are invading eastern Rumania have captured the fortress of Dobrie (Bazardjik), and the seaports of Baltjik and Kavarkina and Kali Akra.

The occupation of Orsova by the Rumanians is conceded in the Bulgarian statement.

MANY KILLED AND INJURED DURING A REVOLT IN MOSCOW

BERLIN, Sept. 8, by wireless to Sayville.—Press despatches from Stockholm to the Overseas News agency report that a revolt occurred recently at Moscow, resulting in the killing or wounding of a large number of persons. According to this account, wounded Russian soldiers who were taken to Moscow in a hospital train were left for some time without care, with the result that a large crowd assembled and made protests. Soldiers who were ordered to fire on the crowd refused to do so, these reports say, whereupon police were sent against the soldiers, resulting in a sanguinary encounter.

GREAT BATTLE UNDER WAY IN SOUTHEASTERN RUMANIA

LONDON, Sept. 8, 3:25 p. m.—The beginning of a great battle in southeastern Rumania, where the Russians have taken the offensive against the Bulgarians and Germans, is reported in a Rome despatch given out by the wireless press.

The struggle is now under way over the whole front in Dobradia between the Danube and the Black sea. Fighting is particularly desperate near Baltjik, on the Black sea coast about 10 miles north of the Bulgarian frontier.

This information, the wireless despatch says, was received in Rome from Petrograd.

AGAINST UNPAID BOARDS

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—In expressing his disapproval of various city departments being in charge of unpaid boards, Mayor Curley told the city council yesterday that the overseers of the poor should be replaced by a single official, paid a salary sufficiently large to insure an efficient administration and the obtaining of results. The mayor expressed regret that under the statutes he does not possess the power to eliminate the board of overseers.

But he declared that at the next meeting of the council he would probably submit an order for the changing of the city ordinances so that the board of infirmaries trustees, another unpaid commission, could be either displaced by a single official or consolidated with the health department of some other city branch.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

TO HOLD OUR PROSPERITY

How shall we hold our present high degree of prosperity?

Never before perhaps was the city more prosperously engaged than at the present time. Nobody is now idle who wants to work. It should be the aim of all good citizens to continue this state of prosperity indefinitely. There is a bare possibility that a slump may come when the U. S. Cartridge shop begins to curtail as it must towards the close of the war. It is quite probable that our other industries at present running short-handed for lack of help, could handle the number that may thus be left idle.

Several of our mills complain that hundreds of their skilled operatives left and found employment in the Cartridge plants at high wages. That is but natural. The operatives have a right to go where their services command the highest wages. The mills in all probability will have to increase wages to get them back. The shoe shops are also complaining of difficulty in getting skilled help, but all have been enjoying a fair degree of prosperity.

Throughout the city, there is a great scarcity of tenements—a real sign of growth and prosperity. To meet this, something should be done in the direction of annexing additional territory, first to afford room for easy growth and to prevent crowding; second, to give us more acceptable sites for new industries; and third, to afford our people the needed opportunity to acquire property in the suburbs, where they can do a little farming.

This is a matter of vital importance to our city and one which our board of trade and other progressive citizens should take up. The townfolk should see the possibilities of rapid development of property through annexation and bring the matter up for action through organization.

The board of trade some time ago appointed a very excellent committee to consider questions of this kind, but unfortunately nothing has been heard from it. There is a big field for mutual benefit between the city of Lowell and the surrounding towns through this matter of annexation.

Our municipal council should see the necessity of bringing in new property for development as a future source of revenue. The municipality that does things will thrive and prosper; that which is afraid to move onward will perforce go backward. If no other public body takes up the matter of annexation, the municipal council should deal with it directly or else appoint a committee for that purpose.

BEATEN OFF VERDUN

One thing very noticeable in the recent war despatches from Europe is, that Germany is being gradually beaten back over the ground that she fought so hard to win in front of the fortress of Verdun.

This is not surprising in view of what the Germans have to contend with on the other battle fronts. The offensive of the allies shows that they are stronger than ever before, while the Germans are proportionally weaker. What is true of Germany in this respect applies in a greater degree to Austria and Hungary.

Bulgaria is fresh in the fight, but the entrance of Rumania will enable the allies to crush the Bulgars in short order. Turkey's turn will come later and her power must be curtailed for two reasons: first, in order that Russia may have a free passage of the Dardanelles and second, that the Turks will never hereafter have the power to threaten the safety of the Suez canal. If the allies win the war, as now appears probable, Russia and England will insist upon the extinction of Turkey as a military power. France is taking advantage of the situation to drive back the enemy. She expects to be hammering at Metz and Strasbourg in the near future.

HONOR MR. FRANCIS

In reference to the man whose name should be commemorated in the proposed Dummer Street Parkway, we suggested "Butler" and "Ayer" as preferable to that of Whistler. Now that the name of the late James B. Francis has been suggested for this distinction, we hasten to endorse the idea as immeasurably more worthy of adoption than that which would honor a man who forsook his country and who although an artistic genius, was in many respects a man who could neither be admired nor commended.

On the other hand, James B. Francis almost during his entire life was identified with Lowell and her interests. Coming here in his boyhood, it was through his genius that the great waterway system was perfected. At one time he discovered that freshets in the Merrimack river might destroy a large portion of the city and to avert such a disaster, he planned the guard locks on Broadway. His engineering ability was shown in the construction of the Northern canal and other waterways leading to the mills of Lowell and largely furnishing the power to run their machinery in the early days.

Mr. Francis wrote a book on hydraulics that became the textbook in engineering colleges not only in this country, but in England and France. His advice was sought on engineering problems all over this country. He served as member of the city hall commission and as alderman; and he always showed a deep interest in the welfare of Lowell, her industries and her progress.

Mr. Francis was a very modest and retiring man who disliked publicity. He seldom made speeches, but as an engineer he enjoyed the reputation of standing at the head of his profession at least in this country.

For these reasons and because his office stood at the head of Dummer street, we feel that in simple justice to the memory of this great man, the Parkway should certainly be named after him in preference to Whistler, who has already been honored to the extent of having his birthplace set apart as the home of art.

There is not even an obscure avenue named after Mr. Francis, although his genius as an engineer shone fully as high, if not more so, as did that of Whistler as an artist.

PARKWAY EXTENSION

The extension of Dummer street has now brought up the question of extending the "Parkway" to Broadway. It would be a splendid idea, to be sure, but at this time, it would be an expenditure that is not demanded by public necessity. We are in favor of public improvements on a liberal scale, public parks and boulevards, but we believe the city should start with those demanded by public necessity. The Dummer street extension, we presume, will meet all public demands at the present time. Moreover, the expense is as much as the city should put out on Dummer street until other more pressing needs are attended to.

The extension of the proposed Parkway, call it what you will, may be dismissed without prejudice as it were. It can be attended to at any time in the future and preferably when the city has less of a rush in street work.

TO STAMP OUT VILLA

It is proposed that the United States troops shall unite with those of Carranza to exterminate Villa and his adherents. If the Carranza forces are willing to co-operate without any deception such as was shown when both undertook to pursue Villa some months ago, there would certainly be no objection on our part. It appears that Carranza is not sufficiently in control of the situation to do what he wishes or to prevent the Villistas from continuing their guerrilla warfare. Mexico will require the assistance of some outside power to accomplish this very laudable object, if it is to be done in the near future. The United States is now and has been willing to help if the leading authorities in Mexico show the right disposition.

DISINFECT SCHOOL ROOMS

In view of the apprehension of parents lest their children should catch any contagious disease by being brought in contact with others in the schools, it will be necessary for the authorities to take every possible precaution. It might be a good idea to have the board of health disinfect all the school rooms before the buildings are thrown open for the new school term. This should not be a very costly matter and in all probability it would prevent some diseases while it might help in warding off the dreaded infantile paralysis.

The republicans in Suffolk county are fighting hard against the appointment deal arranged for them by the democrats. They insist upon its overturn and are pleading with the courts to set it aside. Meantime the democrats in three other counties have lodged similar complaints against republican boards so that if the courts set aside the Suffolk county plan they will probably have to consider the others also. In this case quick work would be required if a special session of the legislature is contemplated in time to straighten out the difficulties before the state primaries.

The American Red Cross has sent out an appeal for additions to their hospital service for the army and navy. It appears that their resources have proved inadequate to meet the widespread demands upon the service. Hence, there is an opportunity for those who have special qualifications required in the medical departments of the army and navy in time of war.

city. But a strike on any large railroad system in this country would be felt all over the United States, so great is the intercourse among the states and the dependence of each upon all the others.

That President Wilson should have signed the eight hour bill a second time will doubtless be regarded as doubly dyed infamy by our esteemed contemporaries across the street. A man so progressive as President Wilson cannot be understood by republicans who have been in the habit of clinging to the statu quo.

Out in Reno, Nev., one Samuel Platt has been nominated for U. S. senator by the republicans. Should Mr. Platt be elected to the senate, there will be much curiosity as to whether he will develop anything approaching the political power and leadership as a boss shown by the late Senator Tom Platt of New York.

The republicans in congress, for some reason best known to themselves, are opposed to the passage of the Corrupt Practices bill. Very naturally, the party that has been in the habit of buying elections in close states would oppose any movement to limit expenditures in political campaigns.

Charles Sumner Bird, long ago recognized as of the migratory species, is now in the state of Maine, whooping it up for Hughes. There is some discussion as to whether he should be classed with the curlew or the magpie.

On a hot day a cool wave will stop a street car just as quickly as an excited one.

Why is it that people who say that they like elms always put on such an exasperating air of superiority?

New Englanders naturally wonder what life must be like out in Wisconsin, where they take beans in a kettle.

When a friend invites you to take a ride with him in his automobile don't exasperate him by asking if he will guarantee to get you back sure by 9 o'clock.

The sign noted in Philadelphia, "Wanted, girls to sew buttons on the third floor," rivals the sign noted in Buffalo, "Wanted, girls to sew on coats."

The managers of some business concerns would begin to think, if they knew how much business they lose because of the inactivity or the stupidity of clerks who answer inquiries over the telephone.

When a man advertises that he will sell his automobile for any reasonable sum, you may find when you go to call on him that his ideas about what is reasonable and yours do not agree.

Health After All Others Failed

Failed

There are two sets of organs in the human body, stated the Plant Juice Man. The alimentary tract, including the liver, stomach and large and small intestines, the urinary tract, the kidneys and bladder. These two dominate the health of the entire body. Practically all diseases are due either directly or indirectly to their being disordered, and keeping them well almost certainly preserves perfect health.

MRS. M. P. BROWN

Many diseases attack these organs which promptly yield to the use of the new herbal preparations, Plant Juice. It is a compound of the mildest and most efficient of nature's remedies known to science, roots, herbs, barks and berries. Plant Juice is invaluable in relieving such conditions as are related by Mrs. M. P. Brown, who resides at 77 Brookline street, East Lynn, and is a well-known and popular lady, having many friends and acquaintances here. She stated:

"For years I have suffered with catarrh of the stomach and head, dyspepsia, indigestion, and severe headaches and dizzy spells. My food would ferment in my stomach, causing gas and a terrible bloated condition. I was very nervous and restless and could not sleep at night. My feet and limbs were swollen with rheumatism, and I was in a terribly run-down condition. I have doctor with different doctors and tried all kinds of medicines, but got no benefit from any of them until I commenced to take Plant Juice. I have taken three bottles and I am feeling that I have a new lease on life. I found new life in every bottle of it. It has done me a lot of good and I will say that I am practically cured, and will gladly recommend Plant Juice to everyone."

The Plant Juice Man is at Dows, the Druggist, in Merrimack Square, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. On Saturday evening he will remain at the store until 10 p. m. to meet those who are unable to call during the day. Free samples given.

It Often Happens

A man who worked in the packing department of a large store recently tendered his resignation and accompanied it with the announcement that he was going into business for himself with another man.

"He and I," he explained, "will make a success of it. I will furnish the experience and he will supply the capital."

"How long do you expect that plan to succeed?" asked the foreman.

"Oh, about five years," was the reply. "By that time I should have the capital and the other fellow the experience."—Exchange.

Going out for a ride one day, he resolved to make his "moke" jump a stream. He applied the whip and the animal galloped to the edge of the bank, and then stopped so suddenly that "Sandy" was thrown to the other side of the water.

When he had sufficiently recovered from the shock he rose and looked the donkey in the face.

Captain Sparks had just been placed in charge of the country fire station, and looked a very important personage as he conducted a visitor around the premises. This notwithstanding the fact that the engine resembled nothing so much as a secret roast potato oven joined to a village pump, and other uncanny looking appliances which were neither useful nor ornamental.

The visitor was duly impressed, but one thing puzzled him. "Why," he said, "you don't seem to have either a telegraph or telephone installation in the village. How do you summon your men when a fire breaks out?"

"The captain was equal to the occasion. "Oh, that's simple enough," he replied. "We send 'em all a postcard."

RATES OF WAGES AND HOURS OF TRAINMEN

Special to The Sun.

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Sept. 8.—A publication issued today by the state bureau of statistics is of special interest at this time, in view of the passage by congress of the Adamson bill, giving railroad trainmen ten hours' pay for eight hours' work. The publication, which is entitled "Rates of Wages and Hours of Labor in Steam and Electric Railway Service in Massachusetts," gives in detail the wage schedules under which railroad employees have been working in this state, and for that matter, throughout New England, as it applies to the entire systems of the Boston & Maine, New Haven, and Boston & Albany.

At the present time, trainmen are paid a basic rate for a ten hour day and for a one hundred mile run. If their day's work extends over more than ten hours, or if they are required to cover more than one hundred miles, they are entitled to overtime, usually at the basic rate, but in many cases at a slight advance. Each employee is guaranteed a fixed daily wage.

In the case of conductors, this guarantee is $7 a day on local freight trains; $8.50 on milk trains, and $2.50 on passenger trains. Yard brakemen are paid by the hour, the wage ranging from 33 to 37 cents.

Conductors on local freight trains and on milk trains are guaranteed $4.50 per day; the same guarantee is made to conductors on passenger trains, except that on one of the roads it is reduced to $4.25. Yard conductors are paid from 35 to 40 cents per hour. Assistant conductors in passenger service are paid $3.57 per day.

Firemen on the rear of local freight trains receive $3 per day, and on milk trains $2.50; for those on the rear of passenger trains, the guarantee is $2.50 per day.

Engineers on freight trains receive $5 per day; on two of the roads 100 miles is a day's work, and five cents a mile is paid as overtime for all over that distance. On the third road, only 75 miles is required each day, and 6.67 cents overtime is paid per mile in excess of 75. Engineers on local passenger trains receive from $4.25 to $4.75 per day, but on the mallet type engines used by the Boston & Albany, $5.55 is paid. For milk train service engineers receive from $4.75 to $4.55 per day, switching engines, from $3.11 to $4.15, for through freight service, $4.75 to $4.85, and for through passenger service, $4.25, with 50 cents an hour overtime.

Firemen receive wages graduated to the weight of the locomotive. In the local freight service, the range is from $2.50 to $4.15; through freight, $2.75 to $4; passenger, $2.45 to $4; and switching, $2.50 to $4.

Baggage men are guaranteed $2.75 per day on all of the roads, while there is also a monthly guarantee ranging from $77 to $82.50.

Statistics are also given for the signal maintenance service, station and ferry service, switch towers, car shops, maintenance of way, and roundhouse service. There are also included schedules showing the wage schedules of nineteen of the leading street railway companies in Massachusetts.

Business Men's Battalions Meet Adjutant General and Discuss Plan for Voluntary Militia Organization.

A meeting of representatives of Business Men's Battalions from different parts of the state was held at the South armory in Boston, yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of forming a large Business Men's organization in the commonwealth, the meeting having been called by Adjutant General Pearson of this city. Representing the Lowell organization were A. D. Milliken, A. D. Prince, John H. Murphy and Robert F. Marden. There were about 50 delegates present, representing the following organizations: Lowell Business Men's battalion, First Corps of Cadets Business Men's school of Boston, Business Men's school of Worcester, Signal Corps Co., N. E. Telephone & Telegraph Co. of Boston, Ninth Regiment Business Men's school of Boston, First Troop Provisional Cavalry, Field Artillery Business Men's school, Business Men's school of Plymouth, Concord, Fitchburg, Cambridge, Somerville, Brockton and Framingham, the Plattsburg association of Brockton, the Harvard Sanitary unit of Cambridge, the Engineer Corps of M.I.T., students of Boston, the American legion, the R. H. Stearns Co. Military school and the business men receiving training at the officers' training school of the National Guard.

Adj. Gen. Pearson presided over the meeting and in his opening remarks he outlined his plan, which was to urge the various battalions of business men training in this state to organize into a permanent body, which might possibly approach a standing similar to that of the old volunteer militia.

He said the militia is now the National Guard and is largely under federal control, although they will come back into state service ultimately. He declared that the business men are a valuable asset because of their interest in preparedness, which goes beyond mere marching and singing "The Star Spangled Banner." He advised that the battalions and companies keep up with the changes in the army drill regulations and maintain a permanent organization that would serve to make a standard for all the organizations in the state and would help secure necessary legislation. The general discussed the question at length and finally the meeting decided to form a temporary organization and the following temporary officers were chosen: E. T. Blake, Brockton, chairman; R. E. Stone, Boston, secretary-treasurer; P. W. Ogden, Boston; F. W. Parks, Fitchburg; Robert Bonner, Joseph Sargent and E. J. Sampson, Boston, by-laws committee. Another meeting will be held after the by-laws have been drawn.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS

Pastors Will Be Guided by the Action of the School Committee as to Opening of Schools.

The pastors of the various local Catholic churches have been notified by Rev. A. F. Hickory, supervisor of the parochial schools of the archdiocese of Boston to be guided in the opening of their schools by whatever action is taken by the local school committee, so that the best co-operation may be had as a precautionary measure against the spread of infantile paralysis.

As a result of the letter the Immaculate Conception school will not re-open its doors until Monday, Sept. 18. St. Patrick's school will open next Monday, St. Michael's grammar grades will open next Monday and the primary grades later. St. Peter's school will open Thursday, September 14, while the date for the opening of the Sacred Heart school has not as yet been fixed.

The French and Polish parochial schools opened last Tuesday and today the school physicians will visit these schools and examine the children.

INVESTMENT STOCKS LED TO HIGHER LEVELS

BUSY FORENOON—BOND MARKET STEADY—TRADING BROADENED—ADVERSE CROP CONDITIONS

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Investment stocks led the market to high levels at today's active opening, accompanied by the metal group and paper. Reading rose a point, with as much for Union Pacific and Norfolk & Western, while New York Central and Erie were in fair demand. American Smelting and Inspiration were conspicuous features among the metals, the former gaining almost 2 points, shipping shares also improved and International Paper pfd rose over 1 point with 2 for Union Bag and Paper pfd. U. S. Steel came forward later with motors and allied issues.

Reading, Marbles and coppers guided the list through the busy afternoon, heading advances to 110 1/4 within half a point of its recent best, while Marine pfd engaged in another bullish demonstration on its rise of 1 point with two for the common and as much for United Fruit and Atlantic Gulf & West Indies. Heavy realizing in coppers had no effect on Inspiration, which attained the new record of 63 1/4. U. S. Steel was firm under similar pressure, but motors and munitions lost ground. Moderate trading in "United Kingdom" notes, listed today, was the only feature of the steady lead market.

Inspiration Copper extended its advance to 63 1/4 in the afternoon, with a brisk rise in Steel and American Can. Trading broadened and prices in general were higher, Marine pfd, however, yielding part of its gain.

Adverse crop conditions had some effect upon prices in the final hour, although Reading rose to 112 1/2 during that period. The closing was irregular.

HEAVY DAMAGE TO THE CROPS DURING AUGUST

HOT AND DRY WEATHER CAUSED ENORMOUS LOSS TO POTATOES, CORN, ETC.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Hot and dry weather during August caused a loss of 67,000,000 bushels in the prospective production of corn, 43,000,000 bushels in the spring wheat crop, 43,000,000 in oats and 46,000,000 bushels in potatoes. Tobacco production prospects increased 27,000,000 pounds.

THE LADY'S WORKBAG

Summer is the best time to get the extra tablecloths and napkins hemmed and ready for the busier days of winter. The surest way to get the hems perfectly straight with the grain of the linen is to draw a thread, and the way to keep the thread from breaking and losing itself half way across is to make a thick layer of soap and apply with a shaving brush to the linen. After it has dried the threads may be drawn without difficulty.

Here is a suggestion about darning stockings so that "father and the boys" will not make unpleasant remarks about the "knots that come just where they are walking a torture" in during the stocking instead of using the wooden darning, it is better to put the worn stocking over a shoe toe belonging to the owner. In this way you are able to see just how the darned place will lie on the foot, and the darn can be made to "fit" without drawing or tugging.

To tighten a sewing machine, holt Put a few drops of motor oil on the loose belt, run the machine a few minutes and belt will tighten.

To attach lace to the edge of a centerpiece, roll lace very closely, keeping edge to be sewed on very even. Have a pan of boiling water ready and dip edge to be sewed on in this water two or three times, being careful not to wet all the lace. Squeeze the water out as dry as possible then lay away to dry in the refrigerator.

Carefully unroll it on the top of a flat surface, letting it unroll in a circle, and then let it dry thoroughly. Be careful not to stretch the edge to be whipped on, and you will find the lace will have a circular edge, and the raw chambray is cut away from the design. The rest of the embroidery fills in the stems, etc.

A separate piece of madras to throw over the boiler may be treated in the same way, or if pillows are used, a throw for the pillows may be attached to the top of the spread, turned down flat on the bed, the pillows propped up straight on top of this and the throw then brought up and laid over the pillows. A bureau scarf may have a repetition of the wreath if it takes well on the bed coverings.

The newest lunch or porch napkins are very thin and nearly all are finished with an edge of some kind. The simple little edge that has been so much used on handkerchiefs is made in light colors.

This little crochet finish is not difficult once one has mastered it, and can be done rapidly. A very narrow hem is turned or rolled and three or four threads are drawn and through the place thus formed the steel crochet hook is pushed when crocheting.

Then there is a scalloped edge, which is equally durable and takes, perhaps, about the same amount of work. This can be put on a napkin of linen or damask.

Perhaps the easiest finish for a napkin is the cross-stitch. This is not a cross-stitch always, for some persons whip the hem with the thread all the way around in one direction and then turn and come back in the other. This can be put on a napkin of linen or damask.

COURT SUSTAINS ELECTION OF SELECTMAN

Special to The Sun
BOSTON, Sept. 8.—Judge DeCourcy, who, on Wednesday of this week, took under advisement in the United States supreme court the case of Forrest E. Collier vs. the board of registrars of Billerica, has dismissed the petition.

Mr. Collier sought to have the election of Prescott L. Pasho as selectman of Billerica, set aside.

Mr. Pasho was elected at a special election held in July, the vote being 292 for Pasho and 201 for Collier. Mr. Collier contested two ballots, one of which was in block six and the other in block eight, claiming that the ballot in block six, which the registrars decided was a blank, should have been counted for himself and that the ballot in block eight, which was counted for Pasho, should have been counted a blank.

The fact that he returned home doesn't mean that Harold "healed" down the banner. There was, in fact, more than a measure of compulsion about his home coming. Patrolman Edward G. CONGRESS ADJOURNED ment of the army and navy for defense of the country at the unprecedented cost of $655,000,000 with authorizations that will increase the total in three years to nearly $800,000,000. With all other expenditures, appropriations were brought to the grand total of $1,637,583,652, the greatest aggregate in the country's history at exceeding $1,000,000,000.

Expenditures, necessitated by preparedness and the calling into action of military forces to meet the Mexican emergency demanded revenue legislation in the closing days of the session. Congress responded by doubling the normal tax on incomes, creating an inheritance tax, munitions tax and miscellaneous excise taxes to also $205,000,000 and by directing sale of $130,000,000 Panama canal bonds.

Congress established a tariff commission; a government shipping board to rehabilitate the American merchant marine; a workmen's compensation commission to administer a new uniform compensation law; a farm loan banking system; a child labor law; enlarged the system of self-government in the Philippines and enacted many other important laws which had been contemplated by the administration.

The session was disturbed throughout by frequent recurring threats of foreign complications from the European war and imminence at one time of a diplomatic break with Germany; interference with American mails and commerce, invasion of American territory by Mexicans; and danger of actual war with Mexico.

Later in the session trouble arose in the senate over the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, to succeed the late Justice Lamar as a member of the supreme court. Weeks of investigation and deliberation by the judiciary committee ended in confirmation of Mr. Brandeis by a large majority.

In the week before adjournment congress was occupied with legislation which prevented a threatened nationwide railroad strike. President Wilson, after final negotiations with officials of the railroads and railroad brotherhoods, submitted the controversy to congress, recommending legislation to avert the strike and to prevent such emergencies from arising in the future.

After weeks of investigation and deliberation which the president visited the capitol daily conferring with administration leaders, a bill was passed to establish an eight hour day as a basis for the railroad workers, the present rate of pay for 10 hours' work not to be reduced until the men to receive the new rate, pending an investigation by a special commission into the effect of the eight hour day on railroad revenues.

Most important legislative enactments of the session, exclusive of laws for national defense, included the following:

GOVERNMENT SHIP LAW: Appropriating $50,000,000 to operate ships in foreign and coastwise trade when unable to lease them to individuals or private corporations.

CHILD LABOR LAW: Denying interstate commerce to products of mines and quarries employing children under 16 years of age and factories, mills, canneries and other establishments employing children under 14 years.

RURAL CREDIT LAW: Establishing a farm loan board in control of a system of farm loan mortgage banks.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION LAW: Providing uniform sick and accident benefits for employees of the federal government, and benefits to dependents in case of death.

EMERGENCY REVENUE LAW: Providing for doubling the normal income tax on the lowest class, making additional surtax ranging from one per cent. on that portion of incomes exceeding $20,000 to 13 per cent. on amount of incomes in excess of $2,000,000; levying a graduated tax of one to ten per cent. on inheritances ranging from $50,000 to $5,000,000; a ten per cent. net gift tax on man-made property exceeding $100,000; and a net profit tax on manufacturers of materials entering into munitions; a license tax on actually invested capital stock of corporations capitalized at more than $50,000; wine, beer and liquor excise taxes and miscellaneous stamp taxes.

GOOD ROADS LAW: Providing for co-operative federal aid to the states for construction of highways, and appropriating $75,000,000 to be spent in five years.

POSTAL SAVINGS LAW: Amendment increasing the amount which individuals may deposit from $500 to $1000 with interest and an additional $1000 without interest.

FEDERAL RESERVE: Amendments, including amendment to the Clayton anti-trust law permitting officers and directors of member banks to become officers and directors of not more than two other non-competing banks; liberalizing regulations for discounting commercial paper and permitting member banks in towns of 500 or less population to act as agents for insurance companies.

RAILROAD LEGISLATION: Creation of a joint sub-committee of senate and house interstate commerce committees to investigate necessity for further legislation for railroads and the interstate commerce commission, question of government ownership.

COL. SHERBURNE TAKES A CLOUT AT PEARSON

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 8.—Colonel John H. Sherburne of the First Massachusetts Field Artillery regiment yesterday sharply rebuked Adjutant-General Pearson of Massachusetts for sending three Bay State militia officers to the border to get a roster of the Massachusetts troops and the description of every Bay State soldier here.

Cross-Continent Junket

The commander of the Bay State artillery on the border declared that the trip of the three officers in question was not only unnecessary, but looks to him very much like a cross-continent junket.

There has been considerable grumbling among the Bay State officers over the extra clerical work that the securing of information for which Adjutant-General Pearson has seen is entailing. Until Colonel Sherburne came out footloose with his criticism yesterday, this dissatisfaction has been expressed secretly.

Two of the three officers who came here to get the information which the Bay State adjutant-general's office seeks are Lowell men, Captain J. N. Greig and Lieutenant James J. Powers of K Company of the 6th. The third officer is Lieutenant H. M. Ruggs of the coast artillery corps. They are being assisted by Captains McCarthy and Lawless and Lieutenant Wise, the Inspectors of small arms practice, who were legislated out of office by the new army bill, but who have been directed to remain here with the troops.

It is understood that the information in question is to be submitted to the Massachusetts legislature at the proposed special session of that body.

One Roster Made

Colonel Sherburne said yesterday that already one roster with the de-

CAPT. JAMES N. GREIG
In Charge of Muster-Roll Checkers

scriptions of his men has been sent to the adjutant-general's office. If there was any doubt as to the accuracy of this, he said, the adjutant-general could have lists of the names of the Bay State men which are on file in his office sent to the various regiments. Then the company commanders or troop commanders could check up these lists and send to the adjutant-general's office such corrections and additions as might be necessary.

This, he said, would have saved the commonwealth the expense of the trip of three officers across the country and much quicker results could be obtained. In addition to this, the units here would have been saved much time and trouble at a time when the attention of their men should be directed toward other work. He said that he could not see why the adjutant-general sent down three men to do this work, when but one man was sent down here to check up property, which is a much bigger job. The man checking up property is Captain Weedon.

Instead of being allowed to sleep all night on their train, the Massachusetts field artillery company number 2, Massachusetts hospital company number 2 and the recruits for the Bay State units here, who arrived in El Paso Wednesday evening, were routed out last night and sent to the different camps.

Recruits Sleep Out

It was after 1 o'clock yesterday morning before many of the recruits got a place to sleep. Some slept in the open and got their hordes camp life initiation quick. Yesterday the recruits for the Second Massachusetts regiment, which is at Columbus, N. M., left here to join their regiment after spending the night in the El Paso Regiment camp. Both of the newly arrived Bay State units have good camp sites in Camp Pershing.

Today, the Bay State cavalry squadron had another equipment inspection. The Massachusetts adjutant-general's office has been given target practice with their big guns next week. Colonel Sherburne is making plans for the organization of a football team in the regiment. A team of Harvard and ex-Harvard varsity men could be put in the field by this regiment. A committee has been appointed to arrange for polo matches for the artillery polo team. This committee is composed of First Sergeant Tobey of a battery, Sergeant R. H. Hale, Sergeant Lawrence B. Page, Sergeant Major H. Simpkins and Sergeant John Luscomb. A battery has a quarter which is being used as an entertainment at the Fort Bliss hospital soon. This is made up of Paul Blacker, Dudley Hale, Philip Broughton and Frank Consens.

Considerable excitement was caused at the plant of the Newton Mfg. Co. at Waverlyville yesterday, when a slight explosion took place in the priming department. There was no one injured, however, and no damage caused.

The regular meeting of the Social club was held last evening at 35 Central street at which a letter from the state office was read assigning four campaign speakers to Lowell. An outdoor meeting will be held at Moody and Cabot streets tonight.

Lieut. George McLane of Battery C, which is made up partly of Lowell boys, has been granted a furlough and is expected at his home in Lawrence soon. Before departing from El Paso, Lieut. McLane was given a farewell dinner by the Lowell boys at the Metropolitan hotel of Battery C. It is understood that Lieut. McLane is a candidate for public office in Lawrence.

An automobile belonging to Roger S. Warren of 58 Chestnut street, Boston, was found the night before last in the woods near Pinedale park, Billerica, by Albert Taylor who lives nearby. The local police were notified and the letter in turn communicated with the Boston authorities and it was learned that the automobile had been stolen from Ipswich. Mr. Warren was notified of the recovery of the machine.

Commissioner James E. Donnelly, of the lands and buildings department announced today that he would call for new bids for the heating plant to be installed in the new school, which is being enlarged at the present time. The bids submitted are far too high and all will be thrown out. The lowest figure was over $18,000. In order to get a satisfactory bid the plans and specifications will have to be cut down considerably.

Four young men were found asleep in a barn in Gorham street this morning by the police and sent to the police station where they were booked as suspicious persons. Three of the quartet were taken into court and explained that they had been sleeping out for several nights but had employment. They were released after being advised to seek suitable quarters. The fourth member of the quartet, who is a minor, was released later.

There was a rumor current in this city today that a well known business man who is on an automobile trip through Canada was detained by the Canadian government owing to the fact that he was a British subject. Rumor has a representative of the Sun brought forth the information that although the man in question is touring Canada he is an American citizen and so far as could be learned he had not been detained.

The license commissioners met in special session at their office in the Market building this morning and after a short meeting paid a visit to the City Solicitor Harold J. Varney for the purpose of securing information relative to the provisions of the law in connection with club licenses. The purpose of the conference was to settle legal points in connection with the recent hearing on the alleged violation of the law by the Unity club.

An alarm from box 35 at 3.50 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to a blaze of gasoline in Melrose street. An automobile owned by Boston Bros. ran out of gasoline and the driver purchased some "gas" at a nearby garage and proceeded to refill the tank. The gasoline, however, caught fire from a lamp near by and the liquid ran along the roadway where it blazed up until extinguished by the department. There was no damage done.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Clapperton Held Quiet Observance at Their Home in Lilley Avenue

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Clapperton, both prominent residents of this city for about 25 years, observed their golden wedding anniversary, Sept. 7th, at their home, 17 Lilley avenue.

Owing to the delicate health of both, the affair was quietly observed. Several neighbors and friends of the happy couple called during the day to extend their hearty congratulations.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Clapperton received several bouquets of flowers and other gifts suitable to the occasion, among them being a bride's cake and an original poem. Much praise was given their son Alexander, Jr., for the untiring and loving care he had given his aged parents during their long siege of illness. Mr. Clapperton was a valued employee of the Lawrence Mfg. Co. for several years, and Mrs. Clapperton has always been noted for her lovable and cheerful disposition, and is greatly loved by all who know her.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Miss Mary E. Keefe, who, on Tuesday next, will become the bride of Richard Gorman of Manchester, N. H., was given a surprise party in the shape of a miscellaneous shower at her home, 427 Wilder street, last evening. A buffet lunch was served and there was a very delightful musical and literary program. Her friends, upon leaving her, wished Miss Keefe a world of happiness, contentment and prosperity.

PRINT PAPER COST INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—A resolution broadening the scope of the federal trade commission inquiry into the cost of news print paper to include paper used by the government printing office was adopted last night by the senate on motion of Senator Fletcher, who said the cost of paper for government documents had risen more than 100 per cent in the last year.

JANITORS ARE ALARMED

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—Local janitors are trembling at the prospect of having to compete with "graduate janitors" in the future, since the Iowa state college has just opened a "course in advanced janitring" as part of the regular curriculum. "William A. Blake, D. J." is likely to be the correct word for a janitor's visiting card hereafter. A doctor of janitry will get the job—a mere janitor will get the hook.

CARTER ST. SCHOOL OPENING

Inasmuch as the Carter street school is close to the Butler school and that it contains both grammar and primary grades, Superintendent Molloy of the school department has deemed it advisable to hold the opening of that school on the same date as the Butler school, and this morning he announced that the Carter street school, both grammar and primary grades, will open Tuesday afternoon at the regular hour, and the pupils of that school are requested to present themselves at the opening of the school for medical examination.

BUILD UP YOUR BLOOD

It is a hopeless task to try to restore your health while your blood is deficient in quantity or quality.

The blood circulates throughout every portion of the body except the hair and nails. It takes the nourishment from the food and distributes it to the various muscles and organs; it takes also any medication that is administered through the mouth. The blood is the only means by which medicine can reach the nerves. If the blood is thin its carrying capacity is lessened because it is the red corpuscles in the blood that carry oxygen and other needed constituents to the various parts of the body.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People increase the red corpuscles in the blood. They enable it to absorb more oxygen, to carry more life and strength to the weakened organs. In any disease in which the patient becomes thin and pale Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be used successfully to combat the anemia and build up the health and strength.

"Building Up the Blood" is a booklet, full of good information. Every mother and every growing girl should have one. It is sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Price 50 cents.

YOUNG MAN'S PLAY MAY CAUSE DEATH OF BABY

CHILD SLIPPED FROM GRASP, STRIKING PAVEMENT ON HEAD —NOW AT HOSPITAL

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—Three-year-old Bernard Gillen is at the city hospital in a serious condition as the result of being tossed about by a young man who happened along in front of the child's home at 33 Norfolk avenue, Roxbury, about 4 o'clock last evening, and took a liking to the little one. The men, who is unknown, according to neighbors, was raising the child from the sidewalk to his shoulder time after time, when suddenly the little boy slipped from the man's grasp and fell to the brick sidewalk, striking on his head. In the excitement that followed the man walked away.

Mrs. Sarah Gillen, the mother of the baby, carried the child to police station 9 on Dudley street where Lieut. Henry J. Watkins summoned Dr. T. J. Murphy.

The doctor said the child suffered from a fracture of the skull and ordered his removal to the hospital.

Lieut. Watkins assigned Sergt. Lyons to the case, and Patrolmen Ryan and Andrews are making an effort to locate the man who was playing with the child at the time of the accident.

BOARD OF TRADE

Members of Waterway Committee Will Confer With Congressman Rogers on Merrimack River Plan

In an effort to furnish the necessary additional information to Gen. Black and Col. Craghill regarding the improvement of the Merrimack river from Lowell to the sea Congressman John Jacob Rogers and the members of the waterway committee of the Lowell board of trade will hold a conference in the office of the board tomorrow noon. The conference was called at the suggestion of Congressman Rogers who, together with Congressman Gardner and Phelan of Essex county, obtained an extension of the time allotted to submit the information. Its purpose will be to compile facts and other information to favor the project of improving the river.

Preliminary plans for a "Dress Up" week will be made at a meeting of the mercantile committee of the Lowell board of trade to be held tomorrow forenoon at 10 o'clock. It is probable that Lowell will soon have another week similar to the one held a few months ago.

The executive committee of the board will hold an important meeting Monday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock. The monthly meetings of the board of directors will be resumed next Tuesday when the first session will be held at 6 o'clock.

GUILTY OF ARSON ATTEMPT

FITCHBURG, Sept. 8.—Benjamin Radin and Harry Broder of Worcester were found guilty yesterday of a jury of attempting to burn a building owned by Abraham Israel, Water street, Worcester.

They are garment manufacturers, and have a shop on the third floor of the building. The government alleged that the men "placed candles in their shop and surrounded them with cloth and boxes so that they would start a fire when the candles had burned to the end.

GOVERNOR AND CONGRESSMAN ARE GUESTS

The guests at the semi-weekly outing of the Martin Luther club at the club's splendidly appointed grounds in Englewood, yesterday, included Gov. McCall and Congressman Rogers. The governor stopped for a little time in Lowell on his way back to Boston and it was learned that he feels the legislature should give authority and provide funds for the secretary of state and the members of the ballot law commission to go to the border and secure the votes of the soldiers.

The ballot law commission is made up of two democrats, Henry V. Cunningham of Boston and Charles F. Campbell of Worcester, and one republican, Francis W. Estey of Boston. In order to determine who at the front are voters and who are not the secretary of state's office would prepare lists in advance. By securing from the adjutant-general's office the names of all in the service and their home addresses verification could be made through the election commissioners in Boston and through the registrars of voters and city and town clerks in the different municipalities.

Arrived with a certified list, the special election officers would announce upon their arrival at the front that the vote of a certain company would be held at a certain hour, and of the next at an hour following, and so on until the entire vote had been taken. In each instance the captain of the company would be required to identify the man as he cast his ballot.

Secretary of State Langtry has worked out a plan which he believes will enable the problem to be handled without any difficulty. He has given the matter much study and attention and feels that if the state is allowed reasonably time to do it, the soldier vote may be thoroughly and satisfactorily canvassed.

ABSOLUTE SALE AT PUBLIC AUCTION OF A 4-TENEMENT HOUSE AND ABOUT 2136 SQ. FEET OF LAND AT NO. 11 MILL STREET COURT, OFF LAWRENCE STREET

TOMORROW, SEPT. 9th, 1916, at 3 P. M.

I have been instructed to offer at absolute auction sale, this extremely well paying parcel of real estate. The property consists of a 2 1-2 story building, about 2136 sq. ft. of land, with four nice tenements of 3 and 1 rooms to each, all rented to four good tenants, and bringing in $260 per year. The location is one of the very best in Lowell for property of this kind, handy to all the mills and factories, only a short distance from Merrimack St., and just off the Lawrence street car line, thereby assuring the owner of a steady rental.

This will be the first sale this year of a piece of property of its kind, owners seldom, if ever, place property of this nature on the market as it will show a return of between 50 and 55 per cent. net on your investment. Look this up, as this sale presents an excellent chance for a party with a small amount of money to buy a four tenement block. Terms, $150.00 must be paid to the auctioneer just as soon as the property is struck off, a very liberal mortgage can remain at 5 per cent.

W. E. GUYETTE, in charge.
